

Governor Requests $147 Million Boost Over 2-Year-Period

Sum Equals 50 Per Cent Hike In Personal Income Taxes

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON—The tax impact of the Democratic state administration spending program came into focus today as Gov. John W. Reynolds presented the second installment of his budget message to the Republican controlled Legislature and called for increases in state revenues of at least $147 million during the next two years.

In terms that are most familiar to taxpayers, that sum would be the equivalent of a 50 per cent increase in personal income taxation, which the governor prefers, or a doubling of the collections from the present state sales tax act, which is the course the Republicans will follow when they present their alternative to the Democratic governor's expenditures and taxing proposals.

The Governor explained that he will present his own specific taxing plans in a third fiscal message to the Legislature a week hence.

Reynolds Committed

He is committed to the income tax, but he has not said how he would apply the increased rates that he must recommend to finance the highest budget of proposed expenditures in state history.

Actually the Governor is proposing more than $147 millions in increased state tax revenues. He disclosed that next week he will ask for a redistribution of local tax shares remitted by the state treasury in such a way as to take $38 millions from those localities that now have low local tax rates, to pay out in higher school aids to other localities with high local rates. The effect of such an appropriation of money now paid out to what he called "tax islands" will be to force an increase in property taxes in those localities.

Reynolds at a press briefing last night declined to go into details about his redistribution and taxing plan, but it was clear that it will be resisted hotly by many of the localities that will be adversely affected, including most of the cities in the Fox River Valley.

The Reynolds fiscal program will be a difficult one for the public to comprehend, because of the installment method of reporting it.

He told the legislature today that if the lawmakers accept his redistribution formula for local tax sharing to gain $38 millions for higher school aids, he will then support an additional $28 millions for the local schools out of additional state taxation.

Thus the proposed state budget

Eight Below Seen Friday

Weather Bureau Says Cold Will Continue Through Saturday

Keep your winter coat in sight. The U.S. Weather Bureau in Green Bay is promising a frigid weekend.

The weather bureau said temperatures will plunge to 8 below Friday morning, and reach a high of only 12 above Friday afternoon.

Saturday temperatures will be the same, according to the weatherman. However, he said there is some possibility the mercury will climb a little on Sunday, above the zero low mark.

Appleton thermometers neared the zero mark this morning, with a low reading of only 2 above at 9 a.m. The weather bureau said today's high will reach only plus 8.

The State Highway Department reported today that Wisconsin roads north of a line from La Crosse through Stevens Point to Marmette had scattered to frequent slippery spots, more numerous on secondary roads.

A light overnight snow and drifting brought on the condition.

Highways in the area south of the Stevens Point-La Crosse-Marmette line were generally clear and in good winter driving condition.

Wednesday Highs
High temperatures Wednesday ranged from 26 at Lone Rock and Beloit to 19 at Superior. Others included 24 at La Crosse, 23 at Madison and Beloit, 22 at Eau Claire, Wausau and Milwaukee and 20 at Park Falls.

Temperatures were slow to rise this morning with Superior still reporting a 10 below reading at 8 a.m. On the other side Milwaukee's 10 above reading was the high.

No stormy weather was reported across the country.

Florida felt the chill of the cold air, with temperatures dropping to 28 in Tallahassee, in the northern section, and to mostly in the 40s in southern areas. Miami reported a low of 30 above.

The cold air also nipped sections in the Lower Rio Grande Valley with freezing marks in some areas. It was near freezing in Brownsville and Laredo.

Oppose Payment To Special Master

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Judiciary Committee voted 5-3 Wednesday to recommend killing a bill to pay $5,237 to a federal court special master in the unsuccessful replevin suit started last year by then Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds.

Introduced by Republican Assemblymen Glen Pommeroy of Wauwatosa and Curtis McKay of Mequon, the measure would pay the special master's fee out of the state's general fund.

In a companion resolution, the attorney general is urged to start action to collect the amount from five Waukesha County residents who appeared as plaintiffs in the case.

'Stationary' Satellite Put in Orbit; Passes 2 Key Tests

But Radio Signals Are Lost Seconds After Small Motor Is Set Off High Over Earth

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Syncom, a new type of space communications station, soared into orbit today and successfully passed two key hurdles toward becoming the world's first satellite to seemingly stand still in space.

Success cannot be completely evaluated until the satellite has performed a number of planned, complex maneuvers, expected to take about two weeks.

If experiments planned for this intended first of a kind synchronous satellite work, the United States will have taken a big stride toward a relatively inexpensive worldwide space communications network requiring only three satellites.

A synchronous satellite is one which appears to hover over one spot on the globe because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation. This can be achieved only at an altitude close to 22,300 miles.

Radio Signals Lost

A program official reported in midmorning, several hours after launching, that radio signals were lost 13 seconds after a small payload motor fired with the intention of kicking Syncom into a synchronous orbit—one in which the vehicle appears to hover over one spot on earth because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation.

The satellite was launched at 12:35 a.m. by a three-stage Delta rocket which performed perfectly in drilling the craft into a giant egg-shaped orbit at about 22,000 miles an hour.

Motor Test Successful

Syncom coasted up, gradually losing speed, until it reached a point about 22,300 miles high. Then a timing device ignited the small rocket at 5:42 a.m.

The firing was to take the satellite out of the elliptical path and shove it onto a circular course at that altitude.

"The motor fired successfully," the official said, "but radio signals stopped 13 seconds later. We regained a brief signal about 7 a.m., but nothing more. We may be in a beautiful orbit and just encountering transmission difficulties."

But he said the kick rocket might have knocked the craft off course.

There was a possibility, he said.

U.S. Planes Find Ship Hijacked In Venezuela

Freighter Seized By Terrorist Group, Betancourt Foes

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — U.S. Navy planes sighted and circled a hijacked Venezuelan freighter today about 200 miles due south of the Dominican Republic in the Caribbean Sea, the Venezuelan navy announced.

The freighter was seized Wednesday night by members of a Communist terrorist organization opposed to the government of President Romulo Betancourt, Communications Minister Pablo Miliari reported. Earlier reports said the terrorists had help from an unidentified warship.

The Venezuelan government declared the seizure an act of piracy and asked the navies of all nations to help in capturing it.

Planes Circle Ship

The Navy announcement said the U.S. Navy planes, presumably from Puerto Rico, were circling the ship.

The captain of the 3,127-ton Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui confirmed in a radio message to the government shipping company that a warship intercepted his ship en route to New Orleans, La., and a guerrilla band took it over.

The government did not identify the nationality of the intercepting warship, but it was suspected here that it was Cuban.

Woodsman Saved From Well After Nearly 15-Hour Struggle for Life

British Labor Elects Leader

LONDON (AP)—J. Harold Wilson, 46-year-old pipe-smoking intellectual, was elected leader of Britain's Labor party today, a position which could make him the next prime minister.

Wilson filled the gap created by the death of Hugh Gaitskell who died Jan. 18 at the peak of his power and at a time when the Labor party was reaching a popularity that threatened the Conservative government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Volunteers Fight Slides and Bitter Cold Throughout Night

LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP)—A durable woodcutter buried to his shoulders in treacherous shifting sand for nearly 15 hours after a well cavein was pulled free early today in apparently good condition.

Raymond "Fuzy" Fink, 31, was rescued by a volunteer force which battled sand slides and numbing cold throughout the night to rescue him from a 20-foot pit he had dug in this northern Wisconsin community.

"I'm okay, honey, I'm okay, honey," Fink said as he embraced his wife, Bernice, who had kept a constant vigil despite the sub-zero weather.

Taken to Hospital

Fink, slightly haggard and covered with sand, rejected an offer of a stretcher, walked to a station wagon and, despite protests, was taken to a hospital in nearby Woodruff.

He complained only of a few minor aches and pains as he ordered—and was given—a drink of whiskey. Dr. Charles H. Flint said Fink appeared "perfectly all right," but would be kept at the hospital for additional examinations.

Fink, who is 5-foot 10 and has a slight but muscular build, was described by the doctor as "pretty darned tough." A check of his heart and lungs showed no damage in the long ordeal.

"My biggest worry was getting the sheet full of sand," Fink said while resting in a hospital bed.

"I feel fine. I'd like to get up and go home."

Fink, a member of a woodcutting crew with two brothers, Lawrence and Robert, was entombed when the sides of the well caved in Wednesday afternoon. However, Lawrence dug frantically with his hands and managed to claw sand away from his brother's head.

The rescue was tedious as police officers, prison camp inmates and others worked side-by-side through the night in floodlights which turned a tiny forest clearing into a shadowy amphitheatre.

Pulled From Hole

"I knew they would get me out," Fink said. "I want to thank all the officers and fellows who've been working on this."

Fink was joined in the hospital by his wife and three brothers. Two children, Carl, 5, and Mike, 6, were at home.

"He had a bushel of sand and dirt in his clothing," Dr. Flint said after Fink was pulled on a harness straight up from the hole.

Rescuers virtually had to inch their way through the treacherous sand in digging a tunnel on one side to free Fink and enable him to be pulled out.

As the crew worked cautiously during the night, Fink told them: "I've been in tougher spots."

Crash of Plane Laid Tentatively To Bad Weather

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blustery Florida weather got the tentative blame today for a Northwest Orient Airlines jetliner's plunge into the Everglades with loss of 43 lives.

A federal investigator who would not be quoted by name said the plane apparently "broke apart" in a thunderstorm. It just "wrenched apart."

Rain and gusty winds ruffled Florida Tuesday, the day of the crash, unroofing some dwellings and prompting tornado warnings in north and central portions of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent investigators to the marshy scene of the four-engine Boeing 720B's tragic plunge, nine miles from the nearest road, but said its findings would not be made public for several days.

The CAB and other investigative agencies apparently were not prepared to say the airplane blew apart in flight. But officers who explored the crash scene said bodies and other substantial debris of the crash were scattered within a radius of more than 200 yards of the shattered aircraft.

Wanted to Go to Top

Disturbed Man Causes Bomb Scare in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—A disturbed man who wanted to "take his trouble right to the top" gave historic Pennsylvania Avenue a bad case of heebie-jeebies with a two-hour bomb scare.

Nathan Wise, 33, of Phoenix, Ariz., wheeled his car out of the noon hour traffic Wednesday and drove it up on the steps of the Justice Department building. Swiftly crawling under it, Wise demanded to see FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover—the only man he said he could trust.

He had evidence, he said, to "impeach President Kennedy and his Cabinet."

His car also gave the impression of a great homemade bomb. Police who approached him got a strong whiff of gasoline and spotted a strange suitcase wired to the bottom of the car.

"I won't come out," Wise told them. "I'll die right here. I'll never leave here alive. Don't come near me or I'll blow the place up."

Police didn't take chances. They called an Army bomb squad and blocked off the neighborhood. Traffic was stopped. The first two floors of the big Justice Department building were evacuated.

Factory Work Week Take Dip

WASHINGTON (AP)—The factory work week dipped 0.4 hours during January, to 40.1 hours, the Labor Department said today. It was the second successive month of decline.

The drop for January was described as slightly more than seasonal, and the Bureau of Labor Statistics said there would be reason for concern if there is a continued drop in February.

However, the January work week compares with one of 39.7 hours in January 1962.

Police Seize a Man routed by tear gas from beneath an automobile who Wednesday threatened to blow up the Justice Department. The man drove his auto onto a sidewalk at the Department, crawled under the car and said he would blow up the building unless permitted to talk to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. ## Kennedy Submits Broad Program for Nation's Youth

Opportunity Needed to Use Talents, He Tells Congress

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President John F. Kennedy wrapped together in a single unprecedented package today all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He sent it to Congress with word that "our youthful mounting birth rate, the deserve and require a better over-crowding of schools, the growing proportion of unemployed among young people, the opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

He bid for a "Youth Conservation Corps" to work in parks and forests. He urged creation of a sort of home town youth corps. He called again for a domestic peace corps—it would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

And the President emphasized need for action on juvenile delinquency, family welfare, education and health and physical fitness.

The total price tag for all the projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of them before in general if not specifically.

Lists Major Problems

Kennedy buttressed the plea for day all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He has used many times. He spoke with word that "our youthful mounting birth rate, the deserve and require a better over-crowding of schools, the growing proportion of unemployed among young people, the opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

"The future promise of any nation," he said, "can be directly measured by the present prospects of its youth. This nation—facing increasingly dependence on the opportunities, capabilities and vitality of those who are soon to bear its chief responsibilities."

As outlined in the message and by officials who would have some of the responsibility for them, the youth conservation corps would shape up this peace corps—it would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

It would start with 15,000 boys and be allowed a maximum of 60,000 at any one time. They could enroll for six months originally projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of

be $50 a month, plus travel and living expenses.

Home town youth corps — Both boys and girls could enroll for work in hospitals, schools, parks and settlement houses. The corps could hire up to 40,000 youngsters the first year and go up to a maximum of 50,000 later. The pay scale has not been determined.

The conservation and home town corps would take in semi-skilled or unskilled young people

Cherries Star Throughout Day

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER
Home Economist,
Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

Cherries are such a versatile fruit that they can be featured on a menu for breakfast, lunch or dinner. They make excellent dishes for Washington's birthday.

Warm Cherry Upside Down Coffee Cake is a perfect way to start the day. Quick—as-a-wink Cherry Graham Cracker Pudding makes an excellent luncheon dish and for an extra-special dinner dessert, try Cherry Chiffon Pie.

If you have frozen cherries that were packed in the freezer last June, this is the time to use them. They do not need to be completely thawed for any of these recipes. Canned cherries also may be used.

Cherry Upside-Down Coffee Cake

2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons sugar
1 pound sour red cherries

2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
6 tablespoons butter
1 egg, beaten
½ cup milk

Melt two tablespoons butter in deep cake pan. Sprinkle four tablespoons sugar over bottom of buttered pan. Cover with sour cherries, drained well if canned ones are used.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar in mixing bowl. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk; stir into dry ingredients until mixture is blended. Spread dough evenly over cherries in cake pan. Bake in 400-degree oven for about 20 minutes.

Cherry-Graham Cracker Pudding

1 pkg. vanilla pudding
8-ounce can dark sweet cherries, drained
10 graham crackers, crushed

Prepare pudding according to package directions. Fold in well-drained cherries and crushed graham crackers. Blend well and chill until serving time.

Cherry Chiffon Pie

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup lard
2 tablespoons water

1-pound can Bing cherries
Juice from cherries, plus water to make 1 cup
1 pkg. cherry-flavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup chilled evaporated milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Preheat oven to 475 degrees. Mix flour and salt; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Sprinkle with water. Mix with fork until all flour is moistened. Press dough into ball. Roll out one inch larger than inverted nine-inch pie pan. Ease into pan. Flute pastry; prick with fork. Bake eight to 10 minutes or until golden brown. Fill with cherry filling when pastry has cooled.

To make filling, first drain cherries and keep juice and reserve six whole cherries for garnish.

Add enough water to cherry juice to make one cup; heat juice and water to boiling point. Add to flavored gelatin, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add the half-cup cold water. Stir until blended, then chill mixture until almost stiff.

Cut cherries in halves, except those saved for garnish. After the gelatin mixture has set, whip evaporated milk with lemon juice until stiff. (It's best to have bowl and beater well-chilled before whipping mixture.) Beat gelatin mixture and whipped milk together until well blended, using low speed with electric beater. Fold in cherries. Pour into baked pie shell; chill two to three hours. Garnish top of pie with whole cherries just before serving.

Spareribs Baked In Sweet-Sour Oriental Sauce

Sweet-sour spareribs boast a delightful flavor that is oriental and comes from the exotic sauce spiced with ginger and other ingredients. It may taste like culinary magic, but there really is no trick to preparing this simple recipe.

Sweet-Sour Spareribs

3 pounds spareribs
 1 can consommé, undiluted
 1 cup pineapple juice
 1/4 cup vinegar
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 2 tablespoons cornstarch
 1 tablespoon soy sauce
 1/4 teaspoon ginger
 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
 Cut spareribs into serving pieces and steam for 45 minutes or until tender. Combine undiluted consommé, pineapple juice, vinegar, water, brown sugar, cornstarch, soy sauce, ginger and garlic powder. Cook sauce until thick and transparent. Pour cooked sauce over spareribs and bake in 350-degree oven for one hour. Recipe makes three to four servings.

Judith Durocher Fall Wedding Planned by Engaged Pair

Sheinwold Even the Experts Observe

It isn't always enough to know advanced plays like the throw-in. You still have to watch the fall of the cards if you want to know what the opponents are up to. West starts off with the king and ace of hearts, and South ruffs the second round. Declarer draws two rounds of trumps and then leads the four of spades. West must play low, since otherwise declarer would make two spade tricks. Dummy wins with the king of spades, and South proceeds to rattle off the rest of his trumps. The theory is that West cannot afford to blank his king of diamonds. West's last three cards must be two diamonds and the singleton ace of spades. Thereupon South leads a spade to throw West into the lead. West must return a diamond, permitting declarer to win a trick with the queen of diamonds and thus make the contract.

Tries to Escape
 West is an expert, he tries to escape from the trap. He might try to confuse South about the last three cards in the West hand. West might discard the jack of diamonds, saving K-7 of diamonds and the ace of spades. If South leads a diamond, instead of the spade, thinking that West has kept the blank king of diamonds, he fails to make the contract.

If West doesn't have the jack of diamonds, he might try blanking the king of diamonds fairly early.

Richmond St. Announcement of the engagement was made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Durocher, Coleman.

Miss Durocher, a graduate of Coleman High School, is employed at Zwicker Knitting Mills. Her fiancé was graduated from Appleton High School and is employed at the George Banta Co., Menasha.

 Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S J 7 6 5, H Q 10 8 7, D 10 9 8, C J 9. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. You have only 4 points in high cards, with 1 point for doubleton, but should count an extra point for the queen of partner's suit. Avoid passing partner's opening bid when you have fine support for his suit.

that is very easy on most faces. To achieve it, there is now a better way than teasing. It's called feathering and is done with a small cylindrical brush, plus a dash of hairspray of the self-styling variety. Results are soft and natural, a far cry from bird-nest and snarls.

Here's how to feather: First section off a lock of hair. Then stroke it with the feathering brush, letting the short strands drift down lightly. Now spray the feathered strands, hold the can about seven inches away from the head so that only a fine mist reaches the hair. This is not the time for wetting.

Continue to feather and spray, section by section, until you have built the height and fullness you want. Lastly arrange the hair in the desired lines, by smoothing the top surface with a regular brush.

This this method saves snarls is not the least of its virtue. The tangle caused by several years of backcombing are responsible in large measure for the present rash of complaints about hair. Perhaps you are one of the complainers.

In that case, you would be wise to give your hair some reconditioning treatments and adopt a gentler method of dressing it. A hairstyle is only as lovely as its fabric!

You'll find a way to overcome it in my 16-page booklet, Rule Your Waves. Advice includes: feathering and is done with a small cylindrical brush, plus a dash of hairspray of the self-styling variety. Results are soft and natural, a far cry from bird-nest and snarls.

Stain on Soft Purse

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a soft leather purse (calf) on which there is a grease stain from spilled hair lotion. How can I remove the stain without damaging the leather?

A: Wiping with a thick suds of a mild soap or saddle soap should safely remove the grease spot. To avoid a spotty appearance, I recommend washing the entire leather surface. When thoroughly clean, remove the suds with a damp cloth. When dry, polish with a leather-conditioning preparation (available housewares, some hardware, luggage stores) or with a neutral shoe cream.

Q: We used a large, upholstered type chair in our basement recreation room for quite a long time. Now it has a musty odor. How can we get rid of the odor?

A: Try airing the chair outdoors in the sun for a week or ten days. If only the fabric covering is affected, it might be possible to eliminate the odor by washing it down with a mildew-proofing preparation; available in some large housewares and hardware stores. However, if the chair became thoroughly dampened by basement moisture and the stuffing is the source of the musty odor, replacing the stuffing will be necessary.

Q: We added to our home last winter, building on concrete footing and block foundation, creating a crawl space. We have basement type window units at each end to provide ventilation. We would like to cover the ground with building paper, but it does not seem to dry out completely. Is there anyway to dry the ground before placing the building paper. Is there any formula to go by in relation to ventilation? One of our basement windows opens into the crawl space; would it help to open this window? After placing the building paper, would it help to cover this with bag insulation (poured over)?

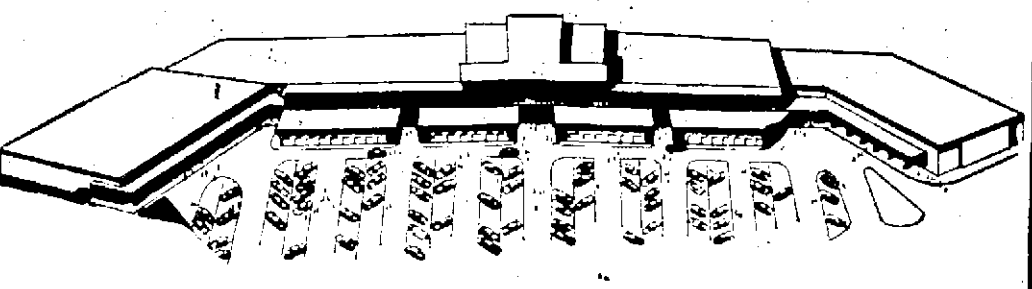

A: Sprinkling generous amounts of calcium chloride over the ground will help absorb the moisture from it. However, if the ground moisture is due to a high water table, it will be impossible to dry the earth. There is a formula for ventilation and air circulation: Window (or louver) openings in each wall of the crawl space, should be of a size to provide at least one square foot of opening for each 300 square feet of ground area. Insulation on top of the building paper (or polyethylene plastic) is unnecessary, but be sure to overlap the sheets at least six inches and seal the seams with roofing cement. (Copyright, 1963)

Does Child Really Know What He's Writing?

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR EVE JONES: Why shouldn't a 4-year-old learn to write? We have one who has been asking, "What's that word?" for about a year and a half.

And I answer him. Without any pushing, he taught himself the letters, several words, and the numbers.

Now he can print any word simply by asking, "OK, what's next?"

I know of several children like mine. None of them are extra smart or different in any way. They're just curious children. If they ask questions, we shouldn't hold them back.

of dictated letters that spell a word he probably can't recognize. Why learn to write numerals before he can understand and use the basic ideas of how many and how much and in what order?

Your child probably asked his questions out of idle curiosity initially. But then he probably realized that his mother thought he was particularly lovable because he showed this certain kind of curiosity. So he repeated similar questions in the effort to keep gaining your approval.

Especially when a child is not extraordinarily intelligent, the most likely answer to the above question is that a child learns to write precociously mainly to win parental approval.

Next time your child asks how to spell a word, give him a hug and tell him you wish instead he'd draw you a picture of how winter feels to him—ask him to do something that will help him bring out what he's thinking and feeling.

Time to Cover Up
DEAR EVE JONES: Our two children are still sleeping in cribs they can't climb out of. I'm thinking ahead to the time when they go into youth beds and are able to rush into our bedroom in an emergency or early in the morning.

You see, my husband and I both sleep without nightclothes. We agree with you that it doesn't help children to see parents in an undressed state. So what shall we do if they come in to our bedroom without warning? And how do we explain to them that they have to wear night clothes when their parents don't?

W I There isn't any answer to your second question that would still make sense once your children stop wearing diapers. And the only answer I can think of to your first question is that you scramble madly for your robes.

Why persist in your current way of sleeping, though? It will be quite a small sacrifice for the cause of parenthood if you and your husband start wearing nightclothes. Better do it soon—many children learn to climb out of their cribs before their second birthday.

Send your questions to Dr. Eve Jones, Appleton Post-Crescent. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

CHAGRINED OVER CARD

Dear Louise I mailed a Christmas card to Mr. and Mrs. and have just learned that the husband died two months ago while I was vacationing. I feel terrible. What should I do?

Louise Davis answers
Do nothing. You can be sure Davis that the widow is getting similar envelopes. Such things do happen continuously. She will realize that you didn't know of her husband's death and will be aware of your embarrassment.

REPLY ON HOSTESS

Dear Louise A close friend has invited me to a large luncheon at her country club. Afterwards the ladies will play bridge and canasta. I don't play either game and wonder if I should send my regrets for that reason. I don't want my hostess worrying about me sitting around all by myself doing nothing. She knows I don't play cards.

Louise Davis answers
Knowing that you don't play bridge or canasta, your hostess wants you anyway. You can be sure she is not going to let you twiddle your thumbs all by yourself while her other guests play cards. I guarantee that you will find plenty to do to enjoy your self and I also guarantee that your friend has invited others who don't play cards. A large part of the time will be taken up with enjoyable conversation before and during the luncheon. The afternoon will be at least half gone by the time you all leave the luncheon table. I advise you to accept, and if you do, you'll have a good time.

College Musical Tells Old Story in New Guise

St. Norbert Music Department Giving 'Connecticut Yankee' Feb. 21 Through 25

DE PERE—Old King Arthur wouldn't recognize the turrets and towers of the Camelot now rising on St. Norbert College stage, to say nothing of the strange court he'd find there. It's music that's been responsible for the change—the music of "Connecticut Yankee."

"Connecticut Yankee" will be presented nightly by the St. Norbert Music Department from Thursday, Feb. 21, through Monday, Feb. 25, in the Hall of Fine Arts on the college campus. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

First produced in 1928, and then revived in 1943, "Connecticut Yankee" had successful Broadway runs both times. The musical is based on Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

Although the music does not really change the fictional version of the Camelot court, it does reflect the anachronistic progress that finds the tiny kingdom going from spears to sambas all within two stagetime hours.

Featuring such songs as "Thou Swell, Thou Pretty," "Can't You Do a Friend a Favor," and "My Heart Stood Still," the musical also swings into the "Camelot Samba" and the luff-and-puff "Camelot Luncheon Follies."

"Connecticut Yankee" is under the direction of Dudley Birder, associate professor of music at St. Norbert College. The "Yankee" is the second musical of the school year. Birder directed and starred in "The Fantasticks" presented last fall.

"Connecticut Yankee" is Birder's ninth major musical production since he joined the St. Norbert staff in 1959.

In addition, the director also has staged three tour shows which, collectively, have traveled over 2,000 miles in and around the states of Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois.

Playing the leading roles in the present major musical will be Barry Christensen, Green Bay, and Dianne Wagner, De Pere.

Sets and scenes for the semi-satirical fantasy have been designed and executed by Pat Maloney, Green Bay. Stage manager and lighting director for the production will be John Gosz, also of Green Bay.

Although the show is not specifically a satire, it does have its "digging" moments, such as the presentation of the C.I.O.—more commonly known in Camelot as the Camelot International Objectors, a women suffrage group.

Anachronistic phrases, silly songs and modern appliances dominate "Connecticut Yankee" scenes, almost, but not quite, overshadowing the double-image love theme. However, Rodgers and Hart saw to it that true love eventually takes the upper hand.

Tickets for the musical went on sale this week. They may be purchased either directly or by mail order through the college music department. All seats are reserved.

Aid Sometimes Denied In Fear of Malpractice Suits, Doctor States

MADISON (AP)—A doctor told the Assembly Judiciary Committee Tuesday that fear of malpractice suits causes some medical men to refuse on-the-scene aid to men to refuse on-the-scene aid to

Dr. Leo Weinschel of Milwaukee testified in favor of a "Good Samaritan Law" that would exempt doctors and nurses from several contemporary French civil liability for furnishing emergency medical aid in highway accidents.

The program is open to the public with no admission charge. Weinschel said malpractice insurance has risen from about $20 a year several years ago to $200.

"People are dying every day because they aren't getting treatment soon enough," Weinschel said. "We're not primarily interested in the malpractice angle, but in saving lives."

The measure was supported by the Wisconsin Division of the American Automobile Association and the Wisconsin Nurses Association. There was no opposition. A bill to provide fines of from $5 to $50 for glue sniffing also had no opposition.

Spy Tale Engrosses Mason Show

BY TV SCOUT

7-4 (Channel 2)—A rip-sporting, spy-murder-intrigue story gives the Perry Masonless Perry Mason a good hour. Hugh O'Brian does double duty as guest attorney and as a shadowy ex-OSS agent who may or may not have turned killer. Raymond Burr makes his first appearance since his operation in a brief scene: you may notice he's put on some weight and has a new haircut.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5)—Wide Country deals with refugees, too. Eduard Franz guest stars, playing a once-great surgeon from Europe who is now a veterinarian. Mitch (Earl Holliman) and Andy (Andrew Price) are first attracted his daughter (Erika Peters). But they come to know the good doctor when a jealous American physician accuses him of practicing medicine (on humans) without a license. They help get him out of his predicament.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5)—Dr. Kildare, for reasons best known to himself, elects to do a stretch in the jail ward of the hospital. His chief patient is Henry Silva, a prowler who was shot while heisting some furs. He managed to kill one of the arresting cops, so the force and the public are demanding action. But Richard Chamberlain, with Raymond Massey's approval, keeps Silva in the ward for a special series of tests.

8-9 (Channel 2)—The witches are on the prowl in Twilight Zone, which has its first witchcraft story. We're in some remote rural area, where Anne Francis (in a black wig) wants James Best, but he prefers Laura Devon. So Anne goes to see Granny Hart (Jeanette Nolan) and makes a deal for a love potion. It works. Best falls in love with her. But there's a high price.

8:30-9 (Channel 11)—McHale's Navy is about to lose its boat. Good old PT 73 is on its last pistons, and Capt. Binghamton (Joe Flynn) gleefully contemplates retiring the ship and dispersing its happy crew. So McHale (Ernest Borgnine) and his men try to figure out some way of getting a new engine before the inspector can certify their boat as hopeless.

9-10 (Channel 11)—Another pilot for a potential series pops up on Premiere. This one would be called All Ashore, and would feature Tommy Sands and Chris Robinson as merchant marine cadets, with John Anderson as a salty mate. We meet them here, as Robinson (already on a ship) helps out his pal Sands with a problem. Tommy loves music, but his mother (Janet Wyatt) and stepfather (Frank Overton) want him to be a respectable dentist. Jazz bubbles in the boy's veins, however, and there's a good reason. His father (Dan Duray) supposedly dead, is actually alive and still playing jazz piano, though blind. So Robinson leads Sands to a kind of re-

Castro Preparing To 'Export' War

BY VIKTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sovietized Cuba is preparing for wars. Not declared wars, but subversive wars starting deep inside such lands as Venezuela, Panama and even mammoth Brazil. Any industrial "detective" can tell you this.

Riesel

Once you know what new factories are springing up, what plants are being thrown on a 24-hour basis, how readily they can be converted swiftly to the manufacture of weapons and support material, and what they are producing now — then you know immediately where this land is heading and what terror the red chiefs of staff plan to export.

So it is not only what Cuba is importing. It's what they are building. Conversations this columnist has had with anti-Castro construction experts slipping in and out of Cuba reveal the rapid creation of a Castroite war industry.

Detailed reports, for example, on the new "Havana Bay fishing port" have just been brought into our country. Russian technicians right now are getting it into full construction.

Handle Ships

When the "port" is finished by the "end of the year" it will be able to handle 154 to 160 ships of any kind — at one time. It will have freezer plants big enough to hold 10,000 tons of fish or other foods, certainly sufficient to replenish hundreds of red galleys on submarines, fighting craft and electronic monitoring "trawlers."

It will have built-in factories for processing special foods.

There will be an enormous floating dock for instant repairs — also "many well-equipped repair shops."

This is merely one project. Another which has fascinated the anti-Fidelista underground is a "technological mining and machinery school." When finished it will be the first of its kind in all of Latin America.

It will be housed in three big buildings in El Cristo, Oriente. And to get them up quickly the Soviet Technical teams have ordered Cuban construction workers on a "round-the-clock schedule."

There will be courses in 14 specialties. Of particular interest are the ones for the handling of explosives. Trusted Cubans will be taught the development, handling and nursing of compressors, key machine tools and special "loading and unloading techniques."

It should be remembered that all this industrial frenzy over the production and care of hardware is being pushed at a moment when the people are starving, food crops are going unharvested and "people's inspectors" are killing hoarders. There was once a little man with a brush mustache who roared for guns, not butter. Now the man with the beard has changed that a bit — to gun potential, not butter.

The goal is to be self contained. In Santiago, Cuba, for instance, Czech technicians are directing the construction of a transport training school. Soon 600 young Cubans will be taught to handle lathes, tool grinders and drill presses.

Get Training

Within a few weeks, five Cubans will fly to Czechoslovakia for extended training in managing such a plant. In turn 25 Czech specialists will fly to Havana in June to "instruct the 61 Cuban professors who will form the teaching staff of the school."

When the five Cubans return from Prague later this year they will direct the institution. Cozy arrangement. It goes for scores of such projects.

Cuban industrial "commanders" range much further afield than Prague.

There is something called the Cuban "Consolidated Aviation Enterprise." For some time now it has had eight specialists learning the care of IL-14 Soviet planes near Moscow. The eight returned at the end of January. Their assignment is to pass on their knowledge to burgeoning Cuban ground crews. Obviously they are being prepared to handle bombers. Meanwhile bomber crews are being trained behind the Iron Curtain.

Thus when The Day comes for the withdrawal of Soviet military manpower from the island, there will be Cuban bomber pilots and ground crews to handle marauding craft. Wait and see.

This is one vast Prince Potemkin operation — all developing behind a false front of civilian technology. Soviet, Czech, Bulgarian and Peking Chinese engineers are everywhere. They build a hydroelectric dam in the Sierra Maestra near Camilo Cienfuegos. They operate a new shipbuilding yard in the port of Cienfuegos. They install power plants.

Everywhere they are surrounded by Cuban youths who were kids when Fidel took over. They too are a war industry. Someday it will be written that here it all began. This is where they prepared the invasions from within. Then, we will wonder, as we do about the Saar, or the Sudeten, or Munich, why we did nothing. Now the civilized world justifiably wonders what is there to do about it?

African Students and Bulgarian Police Clash

VIENNA (AP)—About 200 African students clashed with Bulgarian police in Sofia Tuesday during a demonstration against the Communist government's ban on an all-African student union, reliable sources reported in Vienna.

The sources said the demonstration also protested the arrest Monday of members of the student union's executive committee.

Scores of Africans were reported injured in the clash with club-wielding police. The sources said the demonstrators blocked traffic for about 15 minutes before police forced them into buses and took them away.

The Bulgarian radio and press have not reported the riot.

Minding Your Business

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

HOW TO KEEP PROFIT-MAKING IDEAS FLYING IN PRACTICAL NURSING

DEAR CY:

My wife shoots my ideas down in flames. Always, my confidence lands crumpled at my feet with the ideas. When I ask, "Why do you kill all my ideas?" she answers, "You, Herb (my brother-in-law) and I should work out some practical and profitable ideas together." Should I go along with this?

HUGO BEHLING

DEAR HUGO:

Men and women have a sadistic passion for killing the other's ideas. Even when it means sharing new wealth, the first impulse is for slaughter. Never reveal an undeveloped idea unless you expect to see it murdered. Producing good ideas demands powerful internal pressures and fermentation. First gather the facts. Then take time out for mental fermentation. I agree with James Webb Young's "A Technique for Producing Ideas," which says, "Facts sometimes yield up their meaning quicker when you do not scan them directly, too literally — it is almost like listening for the meaning, instead of looking for it. After you have worked out an idea and are prepared to defend it, talk to your wife and Herb (if you must). William Pleuthner, formerly with the BBDO advertising agency, promoted the theory of "brainstorming." This was a group-think and group-talk to create ideas. "Brainstorming" did not take into account the necessary internal pressures and fermentation necessary for creating ideas and descended like the dying swan. Voltaire said, "Ideas are like beads; men do not have them until they grow up." A man hasn't grown up until he can contain the pressure of an idea.

DEAR CY:

For 23 years, I have been working for the railroad. My job is pretty secure and I will make $8,700 this year. We have $10,000 equity in our home. Would it be my own business. I'm in a flurry of a hurry!

JOE SCHALLER

DEAR JOE:

The risk is brisk unless you can exploit your railroading experience in a new venture. After selling your home, your overhead will rise, due to moving and this will demand increased net earnings. Read "The First Two Years: Problems of Small Firm Growth and Survival." It's available for $1.00 through the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C.

DEAR CY:

Until my wife bought a local gift shop, we lived a normal, happy existence. Sure, we squabbled, but home was home. She kept it in apple pie order. Since her business got rolling, she has completely neglected the simple fundamentals of housekeeping. Figure that out.

JAMES T.

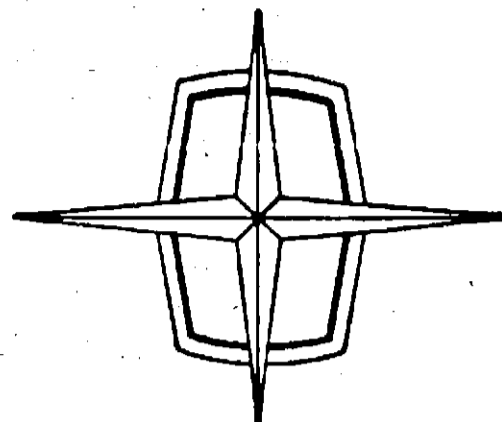

DEAR JAMES:

Almost any man who is successful thinks success is reason enough for not doing anything around the house.

U. S. Plays Giant Game of Numbers

BY SYLVIA PORTER
(in Collaboration With The Research Institute of America)

Each year we move closer to the day when the Treasury will switch to the automatic electronic data computer as its chief weapon in collecting taxes.

By putting every bit of necessary information into computers, it will become possible for the Internal Revenue Service to press a button and almost instantaneously get the answer to whether you have reported the dividends you received on any corporate stock you own, the interest you were paid on any deposits you have in a bank, savings institution, etc. This will be so no matter how many separate payments are made and no matter how many different parts of the country the payments come from.

But this system can work only if each of the millions of us who pay taxes has a separate identifying number. If the electronic machines had to use our names, there would be so many duplications of such common names as John Smith and so many changes of address for the same John Smith that the whole system could bog down over which John Smith received which dividend payment.

But with each of us having a separate and different number, the machine can pick out any of us with lightning speed.

Thus, the first step is to give you an identifying account number which you will use on your tax returns. Then anyone who pays you dividends interest, rent royalties etc., will generally have to report to the Treasury that the payment was made to you and give the Treasury your account number.

In preparing your 1962 return, use your Social Security number, if you have one, as your account number. If you are a business man you may also have an employer identification number, although your account will be kept under your Social Security number. In preparing Schedule C, show both your own individual social security number and, if you have it, your employer identification number.

If you have never obtained a social security number and still don't need one for social security purposes, you nevertheless should now apply on Form 3227 to the Internal Revenue Service, P. O. Box 211, Baltimore 3 Md., for an account number and use it on your 1962 tax return.

Let's assume you are married and usually file a joint return with your wife who doesn't work and has no social security number herself. Will she have to apply for an account number so that you can have a number for each of you on the joint return?

Ordinarily, no. But if your wife owns any stock in her own name on which she received $10 or more in dividends in 1962, or if she has a gross income of $600 or more from any sources last year, she should apply for an account number and enter it along with your social security number on your joint income tax return for 1962.

If you get dividends and interest, you probably have been receiving requests for your account number from the corporations, banks, savings & loan associations or any other organizations making payments to you. This is so they can fill in your number when they are required to report to the Treasury the payments they will make or credit to you later in 1963.

Make no mistake on these points. The law requires you to fill in your number and get one if you don't already have one.

Also the law requires corporations, banks, etc. to ask for your number. Don't resent the requests; the law demands them.

A final point about numbers. Be careful about your arithmetic when you prepare your 1962 tax return. The number of mathematical errors the Treasury finds when it checks the additions, subtractions, etc.—which it does on almost every return—is amazing. Nearly 2,500,000 returns contained mathematical errors last year and the errors ran both ways. Taxpayers not only made mistakes in favor of themselves but also unnecessarily added to their taxes by making errors against themselves.

On balance the errors averaged $90 less in taxes per return in favor of the taxpayer. $70 more in favor of the Treasury. So be careful. Don't overpay on taxes by making an error against yourself. Also avoid errors in your favor for they generally will be caught, for you'll have to pay the added tax and you'll run the risk that your return will be picked for examination just because of an error in your arithmetic.

City, Chamber Check Future For Appleton

Officials Hold Informal Meeting On Planned Growth

City officials and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night took a microscopic look at Appleton's growth and the pronged problems accompanying it.

They pledged a united front to cope with present and future needs of the community during an informal get-together at the Butte des Morts Golf Club.

The theme of the two-hour session, arranged by the Chamber's Project 70 Committee, appeared to be one of mutual understanding and cooperation, and the realization that municipal improvements do not spring up overnight.

Sound Planning

Spokesmen for both the city and chamber stressed the importance of sound planning and the urgency for obtaining a comprehensive plan for the City of Appleton. The plan, often referred to by professional planners as "the bible of the future," will tie in present and long-range needs of the entire community.

There was a consensus that some projects required priority over others, and that the proposed reconstruction of College Avenue tied up in other municipal improvements, such as extension of some streets to improve the community's traffic flow, sewer construction and others.

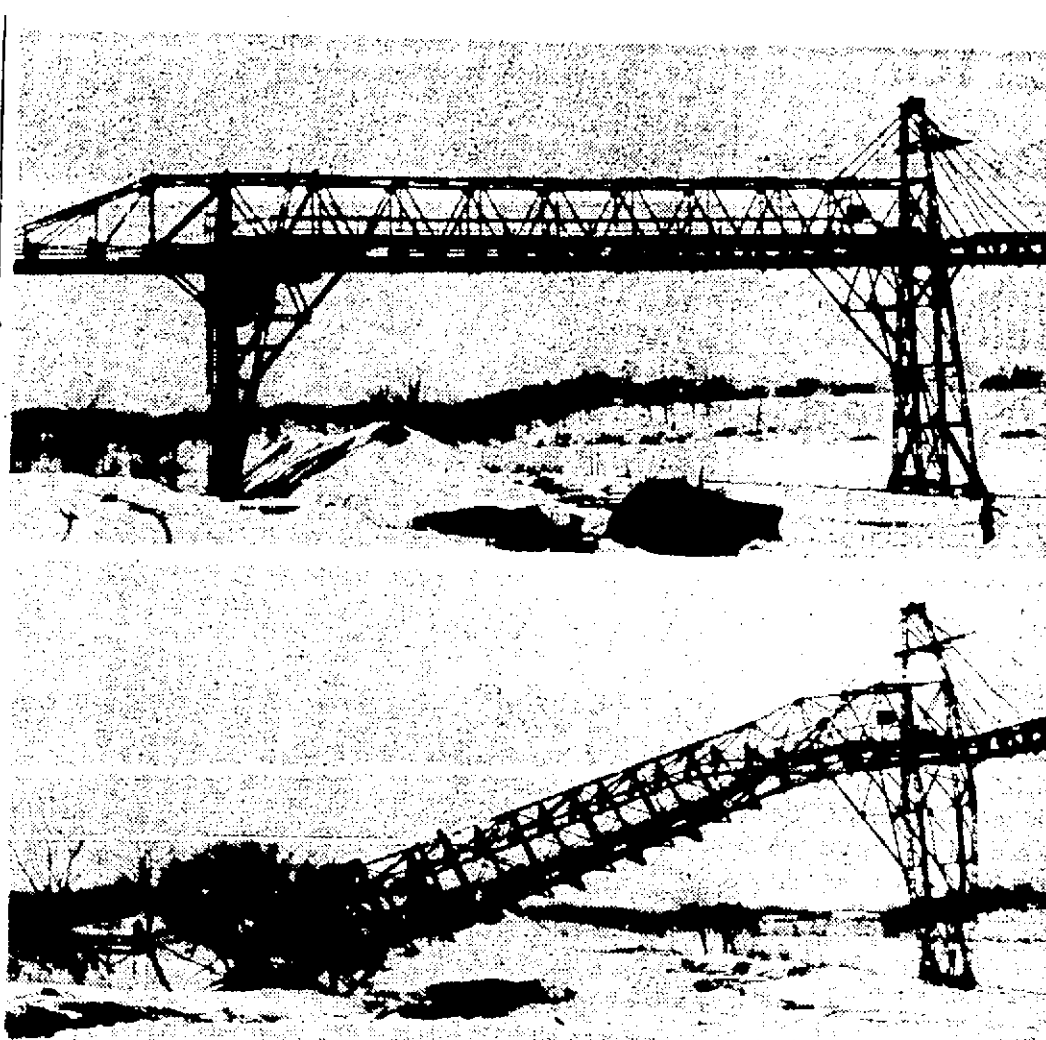

The purpose of the gathering was to promote better understanding of Project 70 objectives and city problems. Judging from post-meeting comments of city officials and the representatives of the city's business community, mission was accomplished.

Ald. Alvin Tews (5th) and Ed. Arts' at Xavier High School, along with which features drama, choral and band festivals, a debate contest, their impressions from the city and art exhibits and demonstrations, begins Friday afternoon and continues through Sunday evening.

Harold Nelson, Xavier art teacher, is chairman of the event. Catholic schools from the Fox Cities area will participate.

The three-day emphasis on the fine arts will begin with a debate demonstration at a student assembly at 2 p.m. Friday. Debaters from Xavier High School and Appleton High School will take part. Robert Baer, Xavier debate coach, is in charge of this part of the program.

A Landmark on the Fox River at Kimberly was torn down to make room for progress Wednesday. The gantry coal unloading crane at the Kimberly-Clark mill was toppled by crews of the Van Daalwyk Construction Co. The crane, over 50 years old, was used to unload coal from barges which docked along the river. Since the end of barge traffic on the river, the crane has not been in use. Pictures show the structure before it fell and as it was about to hit the ground. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Police Meet With John DiBella in Closed Door Talks

Stockholders of Grande Cheese Disclosed at Fond du Lac Meeting

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC — City, county and state law enforcement officials held a guarded-door, coffee and doughnuts, session here Wednesday with John V. DiBella, Italian cheese company executive and acquaintance of known underworld characters.

The pre-arranged meeting was the second in recent weeks between DiBella and authorities who are conducting an investigation into charges by Gov. Reynolds that a network of organized crime exists in Fond du Lac County and a segment of its booming Italian cheese industry.

Although authorities and DiBella's attorney, Dominic Frinzi of Milwaukee, preferred to comment about cheese rather than what transpired at the meeting in a conference room on the second floor of the Safety Building—the Post-Crescent learned what took place behind the closed doors.

DiBella, 72, produced records of his Grande Cheese Co. and offered to give authorities all the information they wanted concerning its operation. However, on direct questioning he would make no comment on his associations with underworld characters.

One of DiBella's longtime friends and a periodic visitor to the downtown hotel where he has lived for close to 10 years is Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno. The latter was a delegate to the crime syndicate convention in 1957—Apalachin, N.Y. At one time Bonanno sold cheese for the Gourmay Cheese Co. of Lomira, just over the county line in Dodge County. It has been reported that Bonanno's wife, Fay, has owned stock in DiBella's Grande Cheese Co.

DiBella said he would tell authorities all they wanted to know about the Grande Cheese Co., but would not talk about some of his friends or their activities, a reliable source said.

"DiBella told authorities that if they wanted information about some of his underworld acquaintances, they (the authorities) should go ask them themselves."

It proved to be an interesting meeting and there is possibility of another, it was learned. DiBella offered no comment for newsmen after the meeting and referred questions to Frinzi whose only comment was: "Because of the nature of the cheese industry, competitiveness, we feel the matter discussed today are privileged and should not be disclosed."

No Pictures District Atty. Thomas K. Massey had an almost identical statement. Photographers were not permitted to take any pictures. It was further learned that in day, addition to operating records of the Grande Cheese Co., DiBella listed the stockholders who included mostly relatives, and Mrs. Joseph Bonanno. The latter was described as "a minor stockholder."

There was also disclosure that DiBella and his group control other business operations in Wisconsin, including a restaurant in the Madison area.

The meeting was arranged after DiBella and his attorney walked into the Safety Building a few weeks ago with Grande Cheese Co. records and demanded that "someone in authority clear the air." Participating were DiBella; Frinzi; Al Caruso, a vice president of the cheese co.; Massey, Sheriff Raymond Howard, Assistant Police Chief Harold Rutenberg; Police Capt. Willard Gallow; along with LeRoy Dalton and George Schwahn of the state attorney general's office.

State Probe Dalton has been one of the investigators in the Milwaukee John Doe proceedings. Schwahn, a native of Fond du Lac, is also an investigator for the state.

After his first claim of organized crime festering in the county, Gov. John Reynolds issued a subsequent statement that the victims of four unsolved Chicago gangland slayings between 1943 and 1946 had one thing in common — they had been connected with the Grande Cheese Co.

Frinzi indicated that a good session was had and offered "to come back and cooperate at any time."

Guarded Door County Police Officer Dan Songdard, a giant of a man, was posted in front of the door of the conference room. DiBella, emerging from the room smiling, thanked the officer for his services.

Coffee and doughnuts were served the group by Sheriff Howard during the noon hour.

DiBella and Frinzi were described as being "sharp but congenial."

Plans Meeting Massey will meet with Atty. Gen. George Thompson here tonight when they attend a Republican Party function.

Massey said today he is studying the information gathered from recent trips to Chicago and Milwaukee, plus conferences with state officials and DiBella. "I feel we are getting somewhere with our investigation into the Governor's charges," Massey said. He did not indicate if he could prove or disprove them.

However, Massey did disclose that he intends to issue a public statement concerning "this over-all situation" on Friday or Saturday.

Being Worked Out 'Bugs' in Collections Delay Courthouse Mail

Some "bugs" in a trial mail/collection program for the Outagamie County Courthouse Monday and Tuesday delayed mail sent from the courthouse for at least one day, but a correction in the procedure is being studied.

Francis Sumnicht, postmaster, said today the shift to the earlier time, the post office's program to collect mails earlier from heavy mailers. The program has been in operation for about one year among industries and municipal organizations. Monday the operation was put on a trial basis at the courthouse.

County Clerk Mollie Pfeiffer said Thursday the deadline for mail into her office for shipment is 4:15 p.m. She said the mail is then processed, and put in the large mailbox in the basement of the building before 5 p.m. Miss Pfeiffer said she was not aware of the post office's change in collection Monday night.

Sumnicht said the post office and the courthouse are now "negotiating" to iron out the "bugs" in the collection program to prevent other delays. He said earlier collections would make it possible for the post office to save valuable time and money.

Sumnicht said one year ago, 70 per cent of the mail sent from Appleton was processed through the post office after 5 p.m. With the earlier collections, Sumnicht estimated, 30 per cent is processed after 5 p.m.

Firemen Called for Fire at Newspaper KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called about 8:45 a.m. Wednesday to the Kaukauna Times, Main Avenue and Third Street, when grease on a press caught fire, causing minor damage to the machine.

The fire was out by the time firemen arrived.

Two persons were hospitalized about 1:40 p.m. Wednesday in a three-car accident on Wisconsin Avenue at Summit Street.

Taken to Memorial Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Seith, 1802 N. Oneida St. Seith received bruises on his arm, and his wife received shoulder injuries.

Appleton police said a car being driven by Imogene Meisenhelder, 27, route 2, Shiocton, going east on Wisconsin Avenue, was struck in the rear by a car being driven south on Summit Street by Adolph Bleck, 72, 1111 W. Bell Ave.

The Meisenhelder vehicle then went into the opposite lane of traffic and struck the Seith vehicle which was being driven west on W. Wisconsin Avenue. Neither Bleck nor Mrs. Meisenhelder were injured in the accident.

CD Office Gives Okay for Sirens

Joint Warning System Details Okayed by Federal Government

Big specifications for sirens to be used in the Outagamie County-Appleton civil defense system were approved by the Federal Office of Civil Defense, Lee Penney, civil defense director, explained today.

Penney made the statement to explain why all three bids to provide siren warning equipment for the civil defense system were rejected by the city-county civil defense committee on Monday.

Members of the committee objected to bids received because only one siren manufacturer had a bid which complied with specifications for the warning system which had been set up by Penney.

List Requirements

Requirements for the city-county siren equipment call for 27 sirens, 14 of them 125 decibel sirens and 13 of them 110 decibel sirens.

One bidder, Biersach and Niedermeyer, Milwaukee, submitted a bid containing only 125 decibel sirens. Federal Sign and Signal Corp., Chicago, submitted bids based on the specifications which had been drawn up by Penney.

During the day members of the committee decided to reject all the bids because they were told that Federal is the only firm manufacturing 110 decibel sirens. Some members felt that, as a result, they were unable to receive competitive bids.

The 125 decibel sirens have a range of about two and a half more distance than the 110 decibel sirens.

Penney talked to Jack Gourlie, contributions officer for the Wisconsin Civil Defense office, Wednesday and Gourlie said that there are at least four firms in the United States who manufacture 110 decibel sirens.

Gourlie was to check with the national civil defense office in Battle Creek, Mich., and then pass the information back to Penney sometime today.

Penney said, "We had 110 decibel sirens in our specifications because that is what sound engineers determined would be proper coverage in the areas where we would use this type of siren."

Eight Listed

"On a list of approved siren manufacturers, dated 1961, which have in my office, there are eight manufacturers of 110 decibel sirens listed. So I drew up the bid specifications thinking I would receive more than one bid."

"But at Monday's meeting, the Biersach and Niedermeyer representative showed the committee letter telling of an expected revision of the approved 110 decibel siren manufacturers. But I haven't received any list revision yet," Penney said.

He explained that if he finds out that there is only one approved manufacturer of 110 decibel sirens, the committee will have to ask federal government approval to advertise for 115, 120 or 125 decibel sirens instead of the 110s.

After Monday's meeting the committee had decided to re-advertise for bids based on new specifications.

In the new specifications the committee stated that it will have the power to reject any bid or parts of any bid, or accept any bid or parts of any bid.

This would give the committee the legal power to buy one type of siren from one manufacturer and another type from a different manufacturer.

Shoreline Area Survey Report to be Presented

NEENAH — A complete report on the proposed Shore Lane Shopping Area development survey will be made by Calvin Zernicke at tonight's meeting of the Shore Lane Shopping area members, according to John Konrad, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Neenah-Menasha.

The meeting, to be held in the Lakewood Lanes building, will start at 9 p.m. Zernicke is head of the survey program.

Community Fund Work Discussed at Annual Meeting

Six Directors Elected During Sessions for Appleton Charity

Suggestions for more effective operation of the United Community Services of Appleton were given by delegates in a brainstorming session at the annual meeting Wednesday night at Alex's Manor House.

The research and planning department was urged to continue its study of a family service agency, county health department and fee charging for health, welfare and recreation services.

In discussion of the Red Feather campaign, improvements in residential solicitation were suggested and expansion of the payroll payment plan was proposed. Delegates felt that those not living in Appleton do receive services for their gifts. A clearing house for fund drives was advocated. The necessity of the Red Feather agencies to identify themselves throughout the year as part of the campaign was stressed.

The geographic area to be covered by the U.C.S. was given consideration. It was the consensus that the Red Feather agencies should not raise funds for operating expenses outside the one United Red Feather Campaign. Several ways of making the Red Feather campaign more inclusive were suggested.

Six Elected Six new members were elected to the board of directors and seven members were re-elected. Elected to a three-year term were Fred Heinrich, Mrs. B. A. Pfeiffer, the Rev. W. C. McKinnon, Richard Van Sistine and Marwin Wroldstad. Elected to a one-year term was John Dixon. Re-elected for three years were Mrs. Harry Brown, Dr. William Chandler, Charles Heeter, Donald Herrling, Frank Okada and Paul Tapp.

Following the annual meeting the new board elected Marvin Heiden, president; Mrs. Harold Orstein, first vice president; Charles Heeter, second vice president, and Frans Larson, treasurer. A Rowland Todd is executive director. The nominating committee report was presented by George Howden, chairman. Reports on the activities of the U.C.S. were presented by the department chairmen. William Cherkasky, chairman of the research and planning department, stressed the importance of seeing that the governmental and voluntary services of the community provide the best possible services. The U.C.S. offers one place the citizens of the community can work toward improving these services, he said.

Richard Van Sistine, public information department chairman, reported on a youth radio profile, the Rev. W. C. McKinnon, gram to be started on WHRY at 1:05 p.m. Saturday. Miss Alice Huck of his committee had developed a program guide being developed for groups interested in a program dealing with health and welfare. The Appleton Post-Crescent and radio stations were thanked for their cooperation.

Gave Report In reporting on the activities of the budget department, Melvern Hemmen cited the difficulty of weighing the needs of the community for one type of service

Two Escape As Flames Raze Home

Two elderly Town of Vandenberg residents escaped with their lives and the clothes on their backs when flames engulfed their four-room frame home about 12:30 p.m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wyro, Maloney Road north of Kaukauna, said the fire apparently started in the garage of their home.

The couple was sitting in the home when they noticed smoke in the kitchen, apparently caused by chicken boiling on the stove. Wyro got up to turn on the light and found there was no electricity.

He went into the garage to investigate and discovered the fire.

Mrs. Wyro tried to get out the back door and saw the flames. Both got outside seconds before fire swept through the home.

Billowing smoke could be seen for miles. Traffic was tied up as firemen brought equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyro are staying with relatives. Mr. Wyro is 76 and Mrs. Wyro is 73.

Taken to Memorial Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Seith, 1802 N. Oneida St. Seith received bruises on his arm, and his wife received shoulder injuries.

Appleton police said a car being driven by Imogene Meisenhelder, 27, route 2, Shiocton, going east on Wisconsin Avenue, was struck in the rear by a car being driven south on Summit Street by Adolph Bleck, 72, 1111 W. Bell Ave.

The Meisenhelder vehicle then went into the opposite lane of traffic and struck the Seith vehicle which was being driven west on W. Wisconsin Avenue. Neither Bleck nor Mrs. Meisenhelder were injured in the accident.

The fire was out by the time firemen arrived.

U. S. Expected To Speak Out On U.N. Move

America Doesn't Care for Planned Project in Cuba

BY WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Diplomatic observers expect U.S. congressmen to speak out soon against the decision by the U.N. Special Fund to spend $1,157,600 on an agricultural research station in Cuba.

Communist officials are considered certain to reply with charges that the United States is trying to use its contributions to the United Nations as a cold war weapon.

Despite U.S. government protests, the special fund announced Wednesday that it will start the long-delayed five-year project at Santiago de Las Vegas in three or four months, as soon as it receives the necessary foreign experts.

Paul G. Hoffman, an American who is managing director of the fund, said that although the United States puts up 40 per cent of its organization's total funds "We will not use one single American dollar" on the Cuban project.

U.S. sources said they understood technicians from the Soviet bloc or other non-American countries will carry out the project and would be paid in non-dollar currencies.

Current Dispute
Despite this, officials of the U.S. delegation obviously were apprehensive of congressional reaction, particularly because of the current dispute between the Kennedy administration and Republicans over the presence of Soviet troops and weapons in Cuba. Delegation sources noted that the American contribution to the fund must be approved by Congress.

Fight Goes On Through Night Hours

BY WEBB MCKINLEY
BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Forces of Iraq's new revolutionary regime battled Communist holdouts in the streets of Baghdad through the night.

Rifles, machine guns and, occasionally, heavier tank weapons were heard in the center of the city from about 9:30 p.m. until 5:30 a.m.

It was the heaviest during the Iraqi capital since Saturday night, the second night of the revolution that overthrew and killed Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Urged by clandestine Red radios to stage an armed uprising against the new anti-Communist regime, Iraqi Reds have held out in pockets in heavily populated sections of Baghdad. Troops and civilians have been moving in systematically to clean out the pockets.

The shooting started on a street near the Tigris River near the city's main telegraph office.

Tried Bargain
Just before the fighting started, Iraq's new president, Abdel Salem Aref, told a news conference that Kassem tried to bargain with him for mercy a few hours before his downfall.

Foreign Minister Dalib Hussein Shabib told another news conference Wednesday the new military regime will honor all international agreements, including those with foreign oil companies and welcomes investments from abroad.

Shabib also promised the "strongest possible cooperation" with President Nasser's United Arab Republic, "based on the firm belief of the common destiny of the Arab people."

President Aref said Kassem managed to teach him by telephone Friday night after the day-long siege of the defense ministry where the premier was dug in.

Merely A Trick
"He tried to bargain for time to use our old friendship to plead for mercy—but it was merely a trick," said Aref. 42 Kassem's partner in the 1958 revolution. Later Aref was sentenced to death after a split with Kassem but was reprieved and allowed to live quietly in Baghdad.

Aref said Kassem reached him several other times during the night and tried to arrange a compromise. But he said he told him "You must not be another T. H. Jones," apparently meaning Kassem should not try to split Iraq.

The new president said he talked to Kassem after his capture Saturday and a few moments before his execution and that Kassem behaved in a "cowardly manner."

"The Iraqi government will honor all its international agreements and assures that there will be a continual flow of oil," Shabib said.

(A Baghdad broadcast of the news conference quoted Shabib as saying the regime would honor commitments with Russia and with anyone else."

Shabib said the new regime will do nothing to harm the Iraq Petroleum Co. which is controlled by U.S. and British interests and is Iraq's main source of revenue. Iraq will welcome foreign investments so long as the economy of the country remains in the hands of the people," Shabib added.

Iraq Revolt Hasn't Affected Oil Concerns

Some Officials Look Forward To Better Relations With Aref

BY JACK LEFLER
NEW YORK (AP)—Overthrow of the Iraq government has had little immediate effect on foreign oil companies operating in the petroleum-rich Mideast.

The Iraq Petroleum Co., a combination of international oil firms, has its troubles with Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, who was deposed and executed in a military rebellion.

Kassem welcomed Soviet and British aid but showed hostility to the United States. He became a violent foe of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Some oil company officials looked forward to better relations with the new regime headed by Col. Abdul Salam Mohammed Aref, an anti-Communist, but apparently wedded to Arab unity in some form under Nasser.

Oil Shipments
Shipment of oil by way of the Shatt Al-Arab river was interrupted over the weekend because with frontiers closed by the rebels tankers were unable to get in or out. Shipments have been resumed.

Closing of the frontiers didn't interfere with movement of oil by pipeline from the Kirkuk and Ain Zahrah fields in northern Iraq to the Mediterranean.

Reaction on the New York Stock Exchange to the Iraq crisis was

Campus Life Quiet for Two Negroes

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Campus life seems relatively quiet these days for two Negro students who shattered tradition and ended segregation in public education in Mississippi and South Carolina.

There have been no open demonstrations at the University of Mississippi since James H. Meredith began his second semester recently, although some future remarks and obscenities still are hurled his way.

At Clemson College in South Carolina reports indicate that Harvey B. Gantt has been accepted by most of the students, not socially perhaps but at least as a student entitled to be on the campus.

There were never any open demonstrations against Gantt, in marked contrast to the rioting at the University of Mississippi after Meredith's arrival more than four months ago. Two men were killed and many others injured, and federal troops finally were sent in to keep order.

Another Negro, Dewey Greene Jr., 22 of Greenwood, Miss., who hopes to join Meredith at Mississippi is awaiting court action on his bid to enroll.

After university officials rejected him as not qualified scholastically, Greene went into federal court at Hattiesburg, Miss. That court deferred a ruling telling them had been appearing to Greene to exhaust all administrative remedies at the university.

Greene then asked the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to order him admitted. A three-judge panel will hear the case in Atlanta Friday.

There was a brief flurry of excitement as some reporters and photographers appeared at the store but it quickly died down.

The two weeks since his release Hodge has been resting and taking physical examinations.

Hodge pleaded guilty stealing 600,000 in state funds. Some estimates place the figure at more than $1,000,000. The state regained most of the money.

He served 6½ years at Menard.

Flu Shots Slow Spread Of Asian Disease in U.S.

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON—A vaccination against influenza is by no means foolproof — as this winter can testify.

But U. S. Public Health Service officials are attributing two beneficial effects to the fact that many Americans got flu shots before winter began.

It is because of this, they believe that:

1. The current outbreak of Asian flu got off to a slow start.

2. It is not moving across the nation as fast as had been expected.

Asian flu has now hit 10 states and the District of Columbia. The states are Maine, Vermont, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Illinois and Kansas.

Light Assault
It's a much lighter assault so far, however, than that of either 1957 or 1960. And, although Asian flu is notoriously tricky stuff, the officials are confident that the nation as a whole will get off fairly easily this time.

"We feel that time is on our side," they explain. "Of course, there will be outbreaks in some other states. But we doubt that it will spread throughout the nation."

The season usually begins in early December. This time, it did not start until mid-January (with a case in Robeson County, North Carolina).

"We are now in mid-February. This means we should only have about a month more of the current outbreak for it usually starts to run out when the weather breaks in mid-March."

In addition to being trickier than old-fashioned influenza, Asian flu (first discovered in Hong Kong in 1956) normally spreads faster. This is the first year that it has not done so.

Asian flu seems to go in three-year cycles. Last year, say the officials, we had the old-fashioned kind. It takes a laboratory technician to detect the difference.

You get just as sick with one as the other, and both are risky for certain categories of persons.

Bandleader Marries His Singing Discovery
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Louis Prima's singing discovery is now his bride.

The bandleader and Gia Maione were married Tuesday at Garden of Eatin', 20 miles southeast of Lake Tahoe, he announced Wednesday. He is 51, she 21. They had been appearing together at Harrah's Club in Lake Tahoe and now are at the Sahara Hotel here. Prima was divorced from singer Keely Smith Oct. 3, 1961, and Miss Smith has custody of their two children, Toni Elizabeth, 8, and Francis, 5.

There is a danger that it could develop into pneumonia in the case of pregnant women, elderly persons, and persons suffering from chronic heart and lung conditions.

You get over the Asian flu the same way as you do the other kind, according to the officials. Go to bed, call a doctor, take aspirin, and stay quiet. Some persons are laid up for a week with it, others get well sooner.

R. R. Reynolds Dead at 77

Former Senator Retired From Politics in '45

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Robert R. Reynolds, 77, who advocated "100 per cent Americanism" during 12 colorful years in the U.S. Senate died Wednesday night. Although death was officially attributed to heart failure, he had been under treatment for cancer.

Reynolds was an Asheville native known affectionately as "Our Bob" to thousands of North Carolina Democrats.

Reynolds, who founded the American Nationalist party and its predecessor, the Vindicators, to promote Americanism, served in the Senate from 1932 to 1945.

Because of his outspoken fight against American participation in World War II, he acquired the label of isolationist—a label he denied repeatedly as a "smear."

In an interview last year, he told newsmen "There never was such an animal as an isolationist. I was never an isolationist."

Other Nations
He preferred to consider himself an American nationalist, one who placed his country ahead of any other country.

Reynolds retired from active politics in 1945. He attempted, unsuccessfully, to make a comeback in 1950 as a candidate for the Senate.

In 1941 Reynolds married a 19-year-old Washington heiress, Evelyn Walsh McLean, his fifth wife. She died five years later, after bearing Reynolds a daughter, Marie Spears, with whom he lived in his later years.

A daughter by a previous marriage, Frances R. Oertling of Firenze, Italy, also survives.

Five to Study Proposal for Menasha Municipal Building

Mayor Klein to Name Committee To Check Into Cost, Site, Needs

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein this morning said he will appoint a five man committee to survey and conduct a study as to where and what will be needed in the construction of a municipal building for the City of Menasha.

He is expected to announce members of the committee Monday at a meeting of the common council committee as a whole. The committee probably will consist of the mayor, aldermen and laymen, Klein said.

The mayor said the committee will study land sites, what departments will be needed in a municipal building and the probable cost of a building.

Klein said he will discuss the needs of a municipal building in Menasha at the meeting of the common council next week.

The mayor said there is a good chance we will "at least get it started this year."

He indicated that a bond issue would be the most likely method of financing the project.

If the building is constructed it will become the first new municipal building in the city's history.

The city government moved into the present building in 1916. The building is approximately 75 years old.

The former city hall was the building now housing the city fire department.

Inadequate Mayor Klein termed the present building as "grossly inadequate."

He said there are many repairs needed, the heating system is inadequate and there is no privacy in the offices.

If a new building is constructed the old will be sold, possibly as a commercial site, Klein said.

Utility Faces Strike Threat

Wages Main Issue As Electric Firm, Union Negotiate

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A strike has been threatened by a union representing workers at the Wisconsin Electric Co.

Local 317 of the operating engineers' union voted Wednesday night to strike at 2 p.m. Sunday unless a contract dispute with the Milwaukee utility is settled.

James T. Horatis, business manager of the local, told a meeting of about 450 members that several Milwaukee trade unions have assured him they would honor picket lines.

The Electric Co. serves an area from Port Washington, just north of Milwaukee to Watertown, in the central Wisconsin, south to the Illinois line.

At times, it supplies power to the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., Appleton A Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. spokesman today said the company has other sources of power through interconnections with other utilities.

A Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. spokesman was told this morning by a Wisconsin Electric Co. official that the Milwaukee firm would continue to operate its power plants even if there is a strike.

Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. will continue to serve its customers and there is no immediate need for any concern, the power company spokesman said.

The union first threatened to strike Dec. 28. Federal mediator Joseph Piconne reported that no issues have been resolved. Piconne told both sides to be prepared for "some hard and collective bargaining" at a meeting Saturday. He said he would keep negotiators at the bargaining straight through until the strike deadline if necessary.

List Issues The chief issues include wages, a company demand for a change in the clause relating to contract termination notice and management's action in placing a ceiling on an output bonus.

The union seeks a 4 1/2 per cent pay increase, while the company has offered 3 per cent. Present wage scales range from $2.60 to $4.61 an hour.

Rowland Scholarship Funds Increased by $25 at Oshkosh State

OSHKOSH — An increase of $25 for each student holder of Rowland Scholarships at Oshkosh State College will be made possible by an annual gift of $750, according to the Oshkosh Foundation.

They are offered annually to women majoring in physical education at OSC. To be eligible, the student must be in the upper third of her class during her freshman year and each semester prior to the awarding of a scholarship, as it is renewable through the senior year.

Oshkosh State Placed On Approved List by University Women

OSHKOSH — Oshkosh State College has been placed on the approved list of the American Association of University Women, according to word received by Dr. Roger E. Guiles, OSC president.

The placing of the college on the approved list means that all women degree graduates are eligible for membership in the association. The approval is retroactive to 1925, when the college was first authorized to grant degrees.

Check Shows Absence Of Flu in Twin Cities

MENASHA — The scourge of Asiatic influenza, now sweeping through parts of the east and southeast and in some areas of the midwest, apparently has by-passed Menasha and Menasha. Theda Clark Hospital officials this morning said no cases of the flu have been admitted at the hospital.

City of Menasha Health Nurse, Mrs. Catherine Feit, said that she knew of no cases reported. Absentees at various schools in the Twin Cities apparently are near normal.

Holverson Chosen Outstanding Young Farmer of Year in County

OSHKOSH — Earl Holverson, who resides in the town of Winchester, received the outstanding young farmer award, at the Oshkosh Junior Chamber of Commerce annual distinguished service awards banquet Wednesday night at the Columbus Club.

Others honored were Duane Peppler, Oshkosh, distinguished service award which annually goes to a young man under the age of 35, Mead Stillman, Oshkosh, outstanding citizen award, and Miss Carol Stadtmueller, Oshkosh State College student, outstanding youth award winner.

Holverson was cited for his activities in developing his farm, which had the highest milk production per average per cow among herds of 35 or less in the county last year.

His average per cow of 15,230 pounds of milk was about twice the county average and Winnebago county's average is the highest of any county in the state.

Selection is based on the acreage being farmed, livestock, scientific farming principles, soil conservation, records kept and profit made from the farming operation.

Runnersup for the award were Larry Yoder, town of Nekimi, and Leslie Romber, town of Clayton.

Peppler, a teller at the Oshkosh National Bank, has been active in community, boy scout and church work. He was chairman of the United Fund campaign, chairman of the Miss Oshkosh Pageant and is treasurer of the Miss Wisconsin Pageant which will be held here this year.

Wausau Man Walks 50 Miles in 13 Hours

WAUSAU (AP) — Robert A. Heinrich, 22, was 12 hours and 45 minutes late getting home from work Wednesday, but he got a kiss from his wife.

Heinrich had walked all the way home from work and that means 50 miles—the distance involved in President Kennedy's physical fitness challenge to the Marines.

Heinrich, an Army infantry reservist who is the father of two children, began his hike at midnight after finishing a five-hour tour of duty at a Tomahawk hospital where he is employed as an orderly. He trudged over frozen highways until nearly 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Manitowoc Man Favored as Planning Chief in Dane County

MADISON (AP) — The Dane County Regional Planning committee has recommended that Charles Montemoyer of Manitowoc be hired as director of a newly established county planning department.

Montemoyer, one of six who applied for the job, holds a similar post in Manitowoc County. The committee's recommendation, made Wednesday night, goes to the Dane County Board next week.

Menasha Council Gets Garage Plan

Aldermen to View Proposals at Regular Council Meeting Tuesday

MENASHA — Final and long-awaited floor plans for the proposed city garage for Menasha will be presented to common council members Tuesday night at the regular council session.

Arthur Scholl, vice president of McMahon Engineering and Architect Co. of Menasha.

The plans will be the fourth presented for council approval since the first plans were presented early in 1962. Since that time the proposed garage has grown to the size of a football field.

The present proposed size is 300 feet in length by 177 feet width at the west end and 80 at the east end.

First plans called for an 80 by 240 foot building, which were revised to 120 by 240 feet. Another suggestion would have made the building 120 by 300 feet but narrower and with a wing.

The latest plans have two wings. On the north side is a 60 by 60 foot repair shop with an office. This section of the building is 18 feet high in comparison with 16 feet for the remainder of the structure.

On the south side is a 37 by 100 foot wing which will contain a washing room area, repair shop, parts storage room, locker rooms, rest rooms, a paint shop, an office and meeting room.

Overhead Doors The entire structure will have seven 14 by 14 overhead doors, which were said by architects to be able to take care of the highest vehicle owned by the city, the garbage trucks.

Floor for the structure will be six inches of concrete sloped to allow drainage.

The base bid for the structure will be for eight inch concrete measure.

block walls with insulated metal panels as alternate.

Advertise this Month If council approves floor plans bids are expected to be advertised by the end of February, a company spokesman said.

The structure and grounds will occupy about one half of an approximately 24-acre site south of Plank Road and near the present city dog pound. The other half of the site is earmarked by the city for industrial development purposes.

All city vehicles, including park trucks and school buses, would be housed in the garage.

Cost of the garage was not revealed pending bids. However, architects indicated the cost will far exceed the original $150,000 estimate.

State Senate Asks Reynolds What He Did to Fight Crime

MADISON (AP)—In a straight party line vote, the Wisconsin Senate passed a Republican endorsed resolution today asking Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds to tell the Legislature what he did as attorney general to fight organized crime.

Reynolds touched off the crime discussion when he identified Fond du Lac, Kenosha and Milwaukee counties as centers of organized underworld activity.

Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, who wrote the resolution, said it "only asks that the governor put up the testimony or else withdraw his statement."

Sen. Peter Carr, R-Janesville, also spoke in support of the measure.

Four Injured as Five Cars Pile Up Wednesday Evening

Two accidents involving five cars resulted in four complaints of injury and tied up traffic on State 114 at Fire Lane 7 in Calumet County outside Appleton for more than two hours Wednesday evening, county police said.

Mrs. Roy Schumann 33 route 1 Menasha, and three of her children Deborah 10 Daniel 9 and Denise 7 were taken to the Clark Memorial Hospital in Neenah by Lindy's Ambulance.

Mrs. Schumann and Deborah were released without injury. Daniel was given treatment and released. Denise was kept overnight at the hospital for observation and treatment. The hospital said she would be released today.

Drove West

Mrs. Schumann 33 was driving her auto west on State 114 at about 4:20 p.m. She stopped her car to await oncoming traffic before making a left turn on to the fire lane.

An auto driven by Earl W. Chudimsky 37 Wausau also traveling west on the highway stopped behind the Schumann car.

A third vehicle, an oil truck owned by Schmidt Oil Co. Kimberly driven by Donald D. Gorski 26 113 Oak St. Neenah skidded into the rear of the Chudimsky car, pushing it into the rear of the Schumann auto.

About 10 minutes later an auto driven by Leonard Tackmaier 47 1016 Brighton Drive Menasha eastbound on the highway stopped while the road was being cleared.

A semi-trailer truck driven by Dale E. Loker 64 Omro collided with the rear of the Tackmaier vehicle. No injuries resulted in this crash.

County police said no estimate of damages has been made. Traffic was held up for about half an hour and was limited to one lane for another hour and a half. An estimated 100 cars were delayed by the mishap.

Discuss Legal, Financial Home Ownership Aspects

OSHKOSH — Legal and financial aspects of home ownership were discussed at the third meeting in a housing series sponsored by the County Cooperative Extension Service Wednesday night at the courthouse lounge.

On the panel were Miss Louise Young, home management specialist of the University of Wisconsin, Lester Dahlke of the First National Bank, Clyde March of the Oshkosh Savings and Loan Association, George Radtke, assistant district attorney, and Phil Raddatz, insurance agent.

Miss Young gave as a thumb rule for purchasing a home that the price should generally not exceed two and a half times the annual income and that house payments normally amount to about 20 per cent of a person's monthly earnings.

Loans Available

Dahlke explained that a common error most people commit is that they forget the extra expenses involved in home ownership. A prospective home owner should be sure that his income will cover all the costs and that his future income is secure.

March reviewed the types of Radtke advised checking with experts regarding the legal phases of home ownership, such as having the title reviewed and obtaining a clear title to the property.

The second portion of Wednesday night's program dealt with a safe water supply and proper sanitation system and was outlined by Donald Carter, public health sanitarian for the Wisconsin board of health. He said the soils of this area are difficult to work with and that it cannot be done cheaply if a person desires a properly installed and safe water and sanitation system for his home. He suggested the home owner plan for a minimum of a 750 gallon septic tank and that the owner should not count on a dry well operating effectively in this area.

The Days Are Getting Longer And So Are Our Hours

Now Appleton State Bank's drive-in and walk-up windows are open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily and from 9:30 until 8 p.m. on Friday. We think you'll find these new longer hours a lot more convenient.

Our temporary drive-in window is located just south of the new bank, to your right as you enter from Superior Street. You can't miss it. This new window is temporary, until we complete the second half of the bank this summer. But we're glad to keep our record unbroken of 15 years drive-in banking — the longest in this area.

The new walk-up window is just off the main entrance on College Avenue. Three "redhead" 15-minute meters in front of the bank mean you'll have no trouble parking if you only need to make a quick stop.

To celebrate finishing the first half and moving in almost overnight, we added another customer convenience. We'll be open continuously in the main bank on Fridays, from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Wave to us as you pass by on College Avenue or, better still, stop in and say hello.

Navy Will Retain Adm. Rickover After Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, steering away from a possible clash with Congress, intends to keep Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover on the job after retirement.

Whether he stays with the Navy as a three-star admiral or as a civilian specialist at about the same pay probably will be up to him, authorities said.

Rickover, 63, who has been at odds with many of the senior admirals in the past and was almost forced out of service through a refusal to promote him 10 years ago, has nearly a year to make up his mind.

He will reach the mandatory retirement age of 64 next Jan. 27.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

ARE PEOPLE BORN WITH EMOTIONAL PROBLEMS? YES ☐ NO ☐

No. Most people are born with the capacity to be loving, kind, healthy and happy. Then, something happens as they grow to make them lose faith in themselves and in those around them. For instance, a long siege of illness, tragedy or bad luck can condition a person to always be on the alert for trouble. He becomes emotionally trigger-happy, ready to fight back or to run at the slightest provocation. If this goes on long enough, especially in early life, it can establish harmful ways of feeling that are hard to outgrow.

You can spot-check your own emotions with the help of the self-rating scale contained in the booklet, "How to Be an Emotional Grownup." To get your copy, send 20c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this column. care this newspaper.

2. Knowing how to have fun is good mental hygiene.

True — False —

True. The mentally healthy person is able to play hard and have fun enjoying life in his leisure moments. The person who grows up feeling that recreation is a waste of time may have to learn to relax and indulge himself in the hobbies that will give him pleasure. If he doesn't, he runs the danger of getting all worn out, partly because he can't let go and have fun when he has the chance.

Students Mourn Death Of Beloved Teacher

BY EDWARD VAN BERKEL

The flag at McCarthy School flew at half-staff Wednesday. It was not indicative of the death of a national celebrity, a well-known statesman or a famous American hero.

It was much more than this to

Hearing Asked On Change in Power Rates

Dispute Has Been Going on for Four Dispute Has Been

A group of northeastern Wisconsin cities have asked their attorneys to seek a public hearing before the Federal Power Commission on electric power rate changes.

The increased rates have been in effect since Sept. 1, 1962 although the added charges paid to the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. are being held under bond until a final decision is made.

Involved in the dispute over the rate changes are Kaukauna, New London, Clintonville, Shawano, Oconto Falls and Florence. All have municipally-owned power distribution systems.

Old Dispute
The dispute has been going on for four years. The municipalities say the original increases amounted to from 17 to 30 per cent.

A Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. spokesman said the municipalities have purchased power under a wholesale rate that has not been increased for 30 years. The rate was, in fact, reduced voluntarily by the power company during that time, he said. Rate increases in the last 15 years paid by other customers have not affected the municipalities.

The Wisconsin Public Service Commission in 1961 granted a rate increase to retail customers who buy direct from the power company. The power company maintains that the municipalities should not buy cheaper than its other customers just because a different commission (Federal Power Commission) has jurisdiction.

Served Directly
In effect, the power company says, the people of Appleton and other communities served directly by the power company subsidize electric bills for people living in communities with municipal systems.

Several factors are involved. Principally they are an increase in the rates so that the municipalities would pay for the same power under the same conditions as any other wholesale (industrial) customer, and an increase in the guaranteed minimum amount the municipalities pay each year to the power company. Most of them already purchase more power than the new minimum charge. The amount of power Kaukauna buys varies according to the way the Fox River flow affects its generation.

The Federal Power Commission postponed its hearing until the Wisconsin and Michigan state commissions ruled on the cases in their jurisdiction. The Wisconsin and Michigan commissions both determined that the recent increase in electric rates for direct customers was proper.

Bus Stop in Neenah Moved Block South
NEENAH — Starting Monday, the bus stop now located on the east side of the First National Bank building at the intersection of Wisconsin Avenue and S Commercial Streets will be moved one block south on S Commercial Street. It was decided at the Wednesday night meeting of the committee on public works.

The temporary moving of the bus stop site will be made because of the construction at the bank. R. V. Hauser, city clerk explained.

The new location of the bus stop will be on the west side of S Commercial Street near the intersection of that street and Doty Avenue. Hauser said.

Appleton Woman at Education Meeting
Miss Ruth Zimmerman, representing the First Congregational Church, Appleton, attended the annual meeting of the Christian Education Fellowship of the United Church of Christ in St. Louis, Mo.

The new United Church Curriculum, which will be available this fall for church schools, was discussed at the meeting of some 175 ministers and directors of Christian education of the denomination.

youngsters at the school. It was the death of a dear friend, their teacher, Mrs. Jill Conlon, killed in an auto accident. Youngsters from the small one-room school arrived at classes Wednesday morning eagerly looking forward to another day with their friend. They had stories to tell about what happened since leaving school Tuesday. They looked forward to going back into history with their teacher, learning about great men of the past, studying how to improve their English, learning new tricks in mathematics, continuing their reading experiences and visiting foreign nations in geography.

Make Valentines
Probably one of the big things planned for the day was an art class where they could make Valentine party today. Perhaps finishing touches would be made on Valentines to be presented to mom and dad by youngsters who feel proud about their creative work.

All these things were to be directed by their teacher. She would be on hand to help, to guide and to insure that each youngster worked to his capabilities. It took only a matter of minutes after children arrived to learn the sad truth. Their teacher had died in an automobile accident Tuesday. Bewildered they pegged their trek home. No classes today, our friend is gone.

What of the future? Who will take care of us? Who will replace this smiling beautiful young woman we have learned to love so well since starting school in September?

Still Shocked
Older students knowing of death realize it is inevitable, but still are shocked by the suddenness with which it strikes close to home. The younger children shed tears as they ponder this strange world which can take one so young, so kind. They are anxious to return home to the safety of their mothers where they feel secure, where they may find some answers to the questions bothering them.

Why? Why was it my teacher?
Why was it one so young, so good so kind, so sweet. Why? Why? Why?
But who can answer these questions? No one can know about the many things which happen to mankind? Someone above must have a reason, a purpose, and it is up to those who remain not to ponder the why.

Supervisors Make Policy Official

The county board has made official an "unwritten" rule on outsiders talking before the board. The new ruling says any outsider can address the board if supervisors grant unanimous consent. If there is an objection, a two-thirds vote of the county board membership can override the objection.

The same procedure has been followed prior to this time, although the policy apparently was not in written form.

Girl Fatally Burned After Playing With Fire in Home

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY—A young Howard girl died early today of burns received Sunday while playing with a cigarette lighter at her home.

Jeanette Anderson, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson, died about 3:30 this morning, the day after her sixth birthday. She suffered second and third degree burns over 30 per cent of her body about eight a.m. Sunday while playing in the living room of her home while her parents attended church.

Relatives said Jeanette and her four-year-old brother Kenneth were playing with a cigarette lighter. Jeanette's clothes caught fire and her cries alerted her 13-year-old sister Barbara who wrapped the young girl in a rug and extinguished the flames.

Kenneth, meanwhile, ran next door and summoned help. The neighbors took Jeanette to a hospital where she was admitted about 8:30 a.m. The girl remained in critical condition at the hospital until she died.

The hospital failed to notify authorities of the accident and the sheriff's department and Howard Fire Department knew nothing of the incident.

Post Office Warns Against Chain Letters
The illegal Savings Bond chain letter scheme has cropped up again from coast to coast, according to United States postal officials.

Post Office Department spokesmen said today the operation, using U.S. Savings Bonds as the lure, has been reported in California, Colorado, Texas and Virginia.

Appleton Postmaster Francis Summich said there has been no recent report of such letters being circulated here.

"We had two rushes of those in the past, including last spring," he commented, "but for the last six months it has been pretty quiet." Citizens are warned that use of the mails to further the scheme is a violation of mail fraud and lottery statutes.

The chain letter theory is that the person at the top of the list should be flooded with savings bonds from those who join the scheme after him. But postal officials note the chain breaks down and many people are victimized.

study are the geographic area of the U.S. and the inclusiveness of agencies and services in the United Red Feather Campaign, he said.

Woman Dies In Snow at Navarino

NAVARINO — Mrs. Ira Hilliker, 77, froze to death last Friday after suffering a heart attack while attempting to get neighbors' help for her 81-year-old husband who had suffered a stroke.

Ira Hilliker suffered a stroke about 8 a.m. Friday while in the bathroom of his home in the village. Mrs. Hilliker covered him with a blanket and started to a neighbor's for help when she was stricken and fell beside a hedge in her yard.

School children saw Mrs. Hilliker on their way to school, the family said, but thought she was working in her yard. When the body was still there in the evening when the youths returned from school, they notified a son, Eli Hilliker.

Mr. Hilliker was taken to Shawano Community Hospital, where he is reported in fair condition. Funeral services were held for Mrs. Hilliker Monday.

To Your Good Health

Everyone Should Have A Personal Physician

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me all I should know about having plastic surgery done on my nose? The cost, etc. I decided to write to you since I don't have a doctor.—C. H.

Yes, and I might even tell you some things that you didn't ask. Or ask you some questions. Why don't you have a doctor? Doubtless you'll say it's because you haven't needed one. But sooner or later you will, and as far as that goes, having a doctor may prevent some very minor symptom from growing into a bigger one. Or he may well protect you from some danger. Have you had your polio shots? Is your tetanus protection up to date?

One of the commonest of all complaints about medical care is the protest, "I was terribly sick last night and called five doctors, but I couldn't get one to come." With rare exceptions these complaints are from people who don't have a doctor of their own. Heaven knows, doctors are busy enough as it is. I'm not trying to drum up trade for the medical profession. I'm not trying to lay down any rules as to how often you should see your doctor. You and he can work that out as time passes. I'm not saying what you should have in the way of examination. He and you can agree on that.

Wise Precaution
I do say that just having a doctor who knows you is a wise precaution. It is a great relief for the nerves when an emergency arises.

If there's a hospital for which you have high regard, get a doctor on its staff. If you are completely in the dark, you can always call the county medical society and ask for the names of two or three doctors in your vicinity. And so much for that.

Concerning the nose, first discuss your case with a plastic surgeon. (Again, either inquire at a major hospital, or the medical society.)

Since you are a man (and fairly young), it is probable that your wish for a different nose is perhaps more urgent than mere attractiveness. Physical appearance can, in some cases, become a severe handicap in business and in one's attitude.

But it's also possible, unless you get the opinion of somebody else, to over-estimate the degree of need, and perhaps to miscalculate just what is feasible.

So, from one source or another, find a good plastic surgeon and discuss these questions with him. A sketch showing what can be done may be a considerable help to you in deciding.

The cost will be several hundred dollars. Closer than that, I can't say since I don't know anything about your particular case. The surgeon will be glad to give you estimates on the operation itself, and the probable length of time in the hospital.

Write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne—The Teenage Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

The Law and You

Person Must Give Approval To Taking of Blood Sample

While driving home from a business trip Roger Jones was involved in an automobile accident. Two people in the other car were killed. When the police arrived they found Roger in a semi-conscious condition and smelling of liquor.

Roger was taken to the hospital, but he was not placed under arrest. At the hospital a blood sample was taken while he was still unconscious. Several days later a warrant was issued charging Roger with negligent homicide.

Over Roger's objection the test results of the blood sample were admitted into evidence. Roger was convicted, and he appealed to the Supreme Court.

"No Consent"
"I didn't give them consent to take my blood," Roger said. "I've got my constitutional rights, haven't I?"

The Supreme Court agreed with Roger. It decided that taking his blood under these circumstances amounted to an illegal search and seizure, and was therefore unconstitutional.

No search of the person or seizure of any article found thereon can be made on mere suspicion that the person searched is violating the law without a search warrant, unless and until the alleged offender is in custody under a warrant of arrest or is lawfully arrested with a warrant as authorized by law. Any evidence obtained by an illegal search and seizure is inadmissible upon trial.

If the person to be searched gives his consent to the search, no warrant or other authorization is necessary.

Our constitutional right to be secure in our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable search and seizure is a pledge of the faith of the government. Our constitutional rights are not reserved only for the good and the innocent, but apply to all alike. That a proper result — that is a conviction of one really guilty — may thus be reached is neither an excuse for nor a condemnation of the use by the state of evidence obtained in violation of its own fundamental charter.

Heading down the home stretch of the Midwest Conference season, the Lawrence College Vikings will close out their home campaign with a pair of games this weekend.

Inter-state rival Beloit will visit Alexander Gymnasium Friday for a 7:30 p.m. game and Coe College will be here for a 1:30 p.m. contest Saturday.

After the double-barrelled home stand the Vikes will play their final four league games on the road.

Lawrence will be eyeing revenge for losses earlier this season to both Beloit and Coe. In addition, a pair of wins would boost Coach Don Boya's eagles to a 7-7 league record and a good chance for a first division finish.

One-Two Punch

Stopping Beloit may prove to be a problem for the Vikes as the Buccaneers have the best one-two scoring punch in the league. A

Hickey Happy Despite Loss

Praises Warriors For Comebacks, Fast Breaking

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette basketball Coach Ed Hickey was a happy man Wednesday, even in defeat.

The loss was a 92-90 overtime decision to Loyola of Chicago, the nation's second-ranked team, Tuesday night.

"Our kids outdid 'em at their own skill," said Hickey. "We had terrific fast break play. I couldn't single out anyone for special praise."

The coach said the loss was a "heartbreaker, but the game was extremely satisfying. It was the high point of our season for effort and a very good demonstration of team play."

"What was so scintillating were our comebacks," Hickey continued. "So many times we fell behind and the kids kept coming back."

Loyola Coach George Ireland said, "It was one of our worst games in the last two years. We made a lot of dumb mistakes and we didn't take advantage of many scoring opportunities."

Hickey disagreed. "Loyola was terrific, simply out of this world," he said. "They were just as fast, shot exceptionally, were well rested and were a little better organized."

Player Heads List Of Week's Top Money Winners

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player, who owns a chicken farm in South Africa, apparently is out to build a quick nest egg.

Player leads the list of 10 top money-winners of professional golf with $18,702 this week. Player's one victory and four finishes among the top five in six tournaments gives him a bare edge on his closest rival, Arnold Palmer.

The all-time money-winner, Palmer has two victories and one finish in the top five in five times out this season, according to PGA figures.

Jack Nicklaus is right behind with $13,865.

The fourth man on the list, Bill Casper Jr., has $10,978 to his credit and is followed by Jack Burke Jr. with $9,540.

The bottom half of the top 10 has Tony Lema, $7,806; Don Janatuza, $6,470; Bob Rosburg, $6,284; Gardner Dickinson Jr., $6,102; and Julius Boros, $4,975.

Vikings Sign Pair To 1963 Contracts

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League announced Wednesday that Larry Guilford and George Balthazer had signed 1963 contracts.

Guilford, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound defensive back from University of the Pacific, had a trial with the Vikings last summer. He was released in the last player cut before start of the league season.

Balthazer, a 6-4, 216-pound tackle from Tennessee State, similarly was cut from the Baltimore Colts squad just before the 1962 opener.

Ernie Stautner Will Serve as Playing-Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Coach Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League said today veteran defensive end Ernie Stautner will serve as a playing-coach for the 1963 season.

Parker said Stautner, 38, will assist defensive coach Buster Ramsey and will specialize with the line.

Stautner is one of the oldest players still active in pro football. A graduate of Boston College, he's a veteran of 13 years with the Steelers.

The Steelers also revealed that quarterback Bobby Layne has been named to serve as quarterback coach with the team next season.

Earlier this year, Steelers Coach Buddy Parker had asked Layne, 15-year star in the NFL, to retire. Layne has not made a decision on retirement, the Steelers said.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — In an annual rite of seclusion, hundreds of men are cranking in little darkened shacks scattered over some 200 square miles of central Wisconsin ice these days, feeling themselves grow old.

These dedicated fellows are performing a ceremony known to psychologists, wives, and others, as "sturgeon spearing," and it is enough to age a man in a hurry.

There is a report that a spearman who went into his shack last Saturday morning at the age of 17 had, when he emerged in mid-afternoon with a 115-pound sturgeon, attained the age of 35.

But he had a sturgeon, and by and large you can't get one any other way. To those who have feasted on this aquatic honeydew, it all seems worthwhile—the moonless hours inside the shack while subzero winds howl without.

Your dark world touched only by the ghostly glow of light filtered through ice and water underneath you, the heavy spear held poised.

You know, of course, what happens most of the time. After several years of this, the fisherman pauses to thaw his frozen eyeballs or blow his nose, and the only 100-pounder he ever saw swishes past untouched.

That the followers of these rites have multiplied over the years seems incredible.

But in the first five days of this

Yankees' Bridges In Fair Condition

Ace Relief Hurler Shot By Woman After Argument

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — Marshall (Sheriff) Bridges, ace relief pitcher of the New York Yankees, was listed in fair condition at Broward General Hospital today as police questioned a woman they said shot him in the left leg after "some sort of argument" at an Elks Club.

Police said the wound was not serious, but Yankee officials said Bridges could be sidelined for two months.

The shooting occurred shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday night, at a Negro club known as the Pride of Fort Lauderdale Elks Lodge.

Police booked a woman identified as Carrie Lee Rayson on a charge of aggravated assault in connection with the shooting. They said the woman appeared to be excited during preliminary investigation. They planned to resume questioning her today.

A patron at the club, Erskine Hepburn, said he drove Bridges to the hospital after the shooting.

He was sitting next to Bridges and Miss Rayson when the shooting occurred, he said.

Fox Valley Lutheran will have one eye on the Fond du Lac Winnebago Gymnasium scoreboard and one ear open to note the progress of the Fort Atkinson Lakeside-Manitowish game Friday night.

The Foxes will virtually be engaged in the play-by-play battle for the Badger Lutheran Conference crown. Both FVL and Lakeside are deadlocked with 4-1 records going into the affair.

While the won-lost records are the same, Fox Valley has a decided edge in the defensive statistics in comparison with those of Lakeside. The Foxes have averaged 56 points per game and allowed only an average of 44.6 to opponents.

Edge in Scoring

Lakeside has an edge in scoring points, having a 57.8 average, but its defensive mark displays the lack of depth with a 56-point mark.

In the two meetings this season, Lakeside won by a 52-48.

Illinois Captain Escapes From Gas-Filled Room

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Deadly gas leaking from a refrigerator almost proved fatal to Bob Starnes, Illinois basketball captain, in a harrowing experience Tuesday.

Awakened by an alarm in his off-campus apartment, Starnes managed to crawl from his bed to a door opening on an outdoor staircase.

He lost consciousness for 30 minutes, but was revived by fresh air.

Starnes suffered no after-effect and attended practice Wednesday. The star, who suffered a sprained ankle in fourth-ranked Illinois' 84-77 loss at Wisconsin Monday night, was pronounced fit to start against Indiana Saturday.

The final draw at 10:30 p.m. tonight has Nash, Sault Ste. Marie versus Fitzgerald, Milwaukee; Paige, Wauwatosa versus Gurley, Chicago; Schuette, Wauwatosa, versus Eulberg, Portage and Purcell, Milwaukee versus Mason, Sault Ste. Marie.

CHEVROLET TRUCK QUALITY

You can see the difference wherever you look

If you believe various makes of trucks are pretty much alike, you aren't doing justice to your pocket-book. There are differences.

A Chevrolet truck welcomes comparison. Look at the little things on it—latches, hinges, stitching in the upholstery. Notice how strong the tailgate is, the rubber encased chains that keep it from sagging. The body floor is made of select wood to eliminate the rust problem and give you better footing. The lower side panels are double-walled; you might dent the inside but it won't show through.

Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

If you are going to need a new truck this year, you should look at the quality Chevrolet has to offer. May we bring over a new '63 so you can examine it?

New High Torque 230-cu.-in. Six is lighter but more powerful than its predecessor. It is standard in Series C10 through C50 models.

The New York Knicks seem to be setting new marks for futility in the National Basketball Association this season.

As Eastern Division tail-enders, the Knicks have managed to win only 16 of 60 games so far. Loss No. 44 came Wednesday night the hard way—the Knicks had a three-point lead and the ball in their possession with 15 seconds to go, and blew it to the St. Louis Hawks 103-102.

Up at the other end of the standings, the Los Angeles Lakers, leaders in the West, rallied for a 134-122 victory over the Boston Celtics. Eastern pace-setters, the Cincinnati Royals beat the Syracuse Nats 124-122 at Indianapolis and the Detroit Pistons nipped the San Francisco Warriors 134-132 in overtime in other NBA games.

Cliff Hagan netted the Hawks' last four points at New York, hitting the winner, on a jump shot with one second to go as St. Louis overhauled the Knicks.

'This Is Our Year'

McKinley Enthusiastic Over U. S. Cup Chances

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is our year for the Davis Cup," an enthusiastic Chuck McKinley said today. "If we don't go all the way this time, we ought to be drawn and quartered."

Removal of grand slam champion Rod Laver from the amateur ranks has brought a new spark of hope to Uncle Sam's battered Davis Cup forces, stopped short of the Challenge Round for the third year in a row.

If the United States is to crack Australia's grip on the big silver trophy, which has resided down under for 10 of the last 12 years, the aggressive, hard-hitting McKinley apparently is the young man to do it.

No. 1 ranked nationally, he is busy this week defending his National Indoor Tennis Championship at the Seventh Regiment Armory in the first step of a campaign which he hopes will carry him to the Wimbledon title and later into the Davis Cup wars in Australia.

"I don't know how many times I have played Roy Emerson," he said, in referring to the Australian whom he must beat out if he is to succeed Laver as top man of the amateurs. "Over-all, I'd say I have beaten him as much as he has beaten me, although he had the edge last year."

McKinley won his opening match in the indoor Wednesday night, trimming left-handed John Sharpe, an Australian, 8-6, 6-2.

Other seeded domestic players to survive included Whitney Reed of Oakland, Calif., winner over Bob Barker of Manhasset, N.Y., 6-2, 6-4; Gene Scott of Northport, N.Y., winner over Ed Rubinoff of Miami 6-1, 14-12; and Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., winner over John Mangano of Larchmont, N.Y., 6-3, 6-1.

Emerson led the foreign contingent with an easy 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Bill Scarlett of Cedar Grove, N.J. Manuel Santa of Spain, No. 2, topped Sidney Schwartz of Brooklyn, 6-1, 8-6; Martin Mulligan of Australia, No. 3, defeated Bill Cullen of Nanterth, Pa., 6-4, 7-5; and Mike Sangster of Britain, No. 4, won over Frank Ripley of Palm Springs, Calif., 6-1, 6-2.

Fox Cities area high school wrestlers will compete in section- al tournaments at Preble and Waupun Friday and Saturday in efforts to qualify for the WIAA state tournament.

Significant Bill Introduced in U. S. Congress

It Would Require Desegregation Plans Of School Districts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A significant bill has just been introduced in Congress on the subject of desegregation in the public schools.

Since the 1954 desegregation decisions of the Supreme Court, it has often been pointed out that the Fourteenth amendment specifically provides that Congress alone may enact laws to enforce the provisions of that amendment. But somehow, during the last nine years, no such law has been enacted by Congress to require desegregation in the public schools.

It is refreshing, therefore, to see Congress pass a law on the subject. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Democrat, of Pennsylvania has just introduced a bill which, if passed, would require every school district to file a desegregation plan within three years, and the plan would be put into effect unless it was challenged in the courts as inadequate.

When asked why no such measure had been passed heretofore, Sen. Clark replied that a "some what similar proposal has been sponsored for several years now by Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois in his civil-rights bills but these died in committee. He explained that the new bill "would give legislative teeth to the 1954 decision and make it possible through legislative action to implement what the Supreme Court had ruled in its opinion."

The Pennsylvania Senator said he had been asked by Mr. Kennedy after the 1960 election to prepare legislation to carry out the Democratic platform pledge on school desegregation. This correspondent asked Sen. Clark why he and others felt that legislation was necessary especially since up till now, the Department of Justice seems to have had no hesitancy about using numerous court orders on desegregation which have been as sweeping as if they had been derived from specific statutes. Mr. Clark said:

Aggressive Lead
"It seemed to me, frankly, that the executive has taken a pretty effective and aggressive lead in this business of assuring rights which are set forth in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments."

that the judiciary has similarly moved, and that the legislature has been the laggard—and that those rights cannot be assured or secured, in the words of the Declaration of Independence, unless the legislature also acts to implement the actions of the judiciary and of the executive.

"My philosophical argument is that, under our system of checks and balances, when you undertake to implement a Constitutional mandate which has been pretty well ignored for nearly a hundred years, all the various elements of government — executive, legislative and judiciary—must co-operate to that end if the result is going to be effective."

At least it can be said that Sen. Clark's proposed legislation is more in line with Constitutional theory than was the Supreme Court decision of 1954. For this was a ruling based primarily on sociological doctrine and not on constitutional law or precedent. To put before Congress now a concrete piece of legislation on the integration desegregation issue is to give the representatives of the American people a chance to vote on the question. If they decide in favor of such a law, the sentiment for enforcing it will at least be supported by a statute, and there would no longer be much discussion of the merits of the court decision itself.

Unhappily, however, even if Congress passed a law requiring desegregation in the public schools, this would not dispose of all of the points raised in the controversy over Constitutionalism. For ratification of the Fourteenth amendment itself was a plan fraud. It was an illegal procedure. Historians do not dispute the facts, though they excuse them as due to the emotional atmosphere of postwar days in 1868.

Strange Method
Oddly enough, the Supreme Court has never passed specific legislation on the legality of the strange method used to "adopt" the Fourteenth amendment "ratified." The Court has refused to take any case involving the validity of the irregular and arbitrary procedures used to declare the Fourteenth amendment "ratified." The court has simply said that the question is "political." But within the last few years the Supreme Court broke precedent and accepted cases on the reapportionment of Congressional districts, even though this had for decades been characterized by the court itself as a "political" question.

Maybe the way has been opened either for a Supreme Court decision on the legality of the "ratification" process used for the Fourteenth amendment or to the adoption of a revised Fourteenth amendment by Congress and the states in the manner prescribed by the Constitution. This would dispose of one of the worst violations of the Constitution ever recorded in the history of the United States. To use troops for instance to compel a legislature to do the bidding of Congress and for Congress itself to deprive Senators and Representatives of their seats while a Constitutional amendment was voted on—as was done in 1868—is something many Americans would wish to see superseded now by the use of the proper process. Then maybe the oft heard phrase "the law of the land," will have a real meaning.

Two Trucks Damaged In Chilton Accident

CHILTON — Two trucks were damaged in an accident at 11:15 a.m. Tuesday in the Aluminum Specialty Co. plant loading area here.

City police said the semi-trailer truck driven by Roger E. Mueller, 32, route 1, Chilton, skidded into the front of a parked vehicle owned by Aluminum Specialty Co. The impact pushed the parked truck backwards and into a concrete loading ramp, inflicting damage to the front and rear of the company vehicle.

Most Pressing U. S. Problem Is Europe

Re-Examination of Our Foreign Policy Only One of Many Needed

BY JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration's re-examination of its foreign policy is like a doctor, with some ailments of his own, trying to prescribe for patients with everything from a whooping cough to paranoia. This re-examination is only one of many which must be made, not only during President Kennedy's term but long afterward because the problems vary from nationalism and communism to fanaticism and pauperism.

The immediate look because it is the most immediate problem, is at this country's policy in Europe where President de Gaulle, a French nationalist above everything else, is baffling the Atlantic alliance and the Common Market. His obstructionism is a direct product of his nationalism. But it is also nationalism which has made a farce of the Marxists' idea that communism eliminates nationalism with a special glue which keeps Communist nations together.

Big Brother

The Russians are as nationalistic as the French, or the Americans, although they talk in big brother language.

The Russians have gone through the usual period of fanaticism of early crusaders and revolutionaries. Stalin, Lenin and the other early bolsheviks were fanatics.

Their fanaticism was stoked by poverty. But they built up fast.

Now, compared with the early bolshevik days, the Russians are an affluent society. With that affluence—that is possessions—comes a degree of conservatism and some loss of the early crusading zeal because now they have something to lose by taking risks.

The Red Chinese, whose leaders still alive were the original leaders of their revolution and there are comparable to the early bolsheviks are in exactly the same economic condition as their Russians at the time of their revolution.

The Red Chinese leaders are making up for lost time with efforts to give their people a pride in nation and a sense of purpose, both basic parts of a necessary philosophy if the Chinese masses are to submit to discipline and sacrifices.

Piled on Top

Thus, in China as in Russia, communism is piled on top of nationalism. But it is because of the nationalism, not communism that a separatism between Russia and Red China was inevitable.

In Japan a highly efficient society with a cohesiveness that their long island isolation turned into cement nationalism is an intense India has it less intense but growing. No nation in Europe is without it.

It will grow in Africa, although it may take another generation to cause the trouble it is almost certain to cause in that conglomeration of new nations. And if communism gets in there the confusion will be compounded. On top of all this is the poverty of Africa and Latin America, too. The latter, while it has its own various forms of nationalism, is a land acutely divided between the rich and the very poor.

This fact may cause the Kennedy administration to make profound re-examinations of policy if the Southern Hemisphere is to be saved from communism because, unless the Latin American masses quickly begin to share in the world's wealth, the quick promises of communism will be unanswerable.

Terrors Face Leading West Quint Friday

never won an undisputed FRVC cage championship (they've shared four), enjoy a 1-game lead over Mantowoc with only three left to play.

Friday night's assignment in the AHS gym against the in-and-out Terrors is conceded to be West's toughest remaining hurdle. The Wildcats' final two foes are off-beaten Green Bay East and Sheboygan North.

Seeks 9-0 Finish
AHS, which now shares third place with Sheboygan South, must win its three remaining games to finish with a 9-0 regular-season record. If the Terrors are to realize a surprise first-division finish, they must win down the home stretch to ward off the late challenge of Oshkosh, which is coming up fast.

Friday night represents only the start of the Terrors' thorny weekend — the most demanding any FRVC team will be called on to face this season. For Saturday night, AHS invades Mantowoc to face the runnerup Ships.

Other Friday night attractions, in addition to GBV vs Appleton, are Mantowoc at East, Oshkosh at North and South at Fond du Lac. Rounding out the twin round of games are these Saturday night contests (besides the AHS-At Mantowoc encounter): East at Fond du Lac at Oshkosh and North at South.

The veteran West team, which was reinforced by the addition of Premontre regular Paul Chubla, has surpassed even its coach "Spider" Kross, formerly of Neenah. In a pre-season evaluation, Kross rated his team "more like a spooler" than a serious contender. The coach allowed as how the Wildcats were too deficient in depth and speed to be able to keep pace with such strong looking teams as Mantowoc and South.

10-Win Streak

But the Wildcats have clawed their way to the head of the conference and into the top five in state rankings with outstanding defensive play, tenacious rebounding and just enough scoring to get the job done.

West goes into Friday's game with a 13-2 season record and a 10-game winning streak — the 10-game longest since the glory days of Lance Olson and company. It was another Dick Beloit built up a big first half. Emanuel-coached AHS team lead and a Lawrence comeback in which rained that winning streak in March, 1956.

During the last two seasons, AHS drubbed West here (55-39 and 61-63) after having lost a first round game on the Wildcats court.

The Wildcats have been hard pressed to win their two most recent league games. They were defeated, 53-41, with Sheboygan South in the last 1 minute, 42 seconds before breaking loose for a 61-56 win at Fond du Lac last Friday, the Wildcats trailed 47-46 with four minutes left before coming through with a 62-56 victory.

In the first AHS-West game on the Wildcat court, the Terrors, at 30-all, with 2:36 left in the third quarter before they opened some daylight that led to a 56-49 victory. That margin is roughly equivalent to the traditionally-quoted home-floor advantage.

The Terrors, who are due for one of their explosive efforts after suffering successive losses of 17 and 15 points, will try to loosen up West's defense this time. In the January game, the Wildcats held AHS to only 41 shots, of which 14 found the hoop.

Emanuel rates the West defense

as one of the best he has seen in his 10 seasons of FRVC coaching

The AHS defense, most porous in the conference, will try to find a way to thwart the shooting artistry of John Drew, who scored 23 points in the first Terror game and who ranks second in the league. Brian Bock and Gary Hietpas led AHS with 17 and 14 points, respectively.

Drew is averaging 18.5 per conference game. Bock is the Terrors' leading scorer in league play, with a 13.7 average — fifth best in the FRVC. Hietpas ranks ninth and the Terrors' Mike Woelker 14th.

The Terrors have permitted 63.5 points per conference outing, while the Wildcats have held all FRVC foes to a 52.4 average. Offensively, AHS holds the edge — scoring 61.5 points a game, compared to the Wildcats' 59.5.

Appleton enjoys a 3-2 conference record at home and is 3-4 on its own court in all games.

AHS needs no introduction to the Mantowoc offense, which is pacing the league with a 70.4 average. The Ships pelted the nets for 96 points in the AHS gym in January — a school record and the highest league tally of the season.

Dale Lehman led the way with 31 points against an AHS defense which was weakened by the illness loss of Hietpas and Chuck McKee. Bock scored 16 of the Terrors' 69 points.

pair of hustling guards Dave Hendricks and Dave Varnado rank second and third in conference scoring. Hendricks has a 20.6 average and Varnado has a 20.6 average.

In the first meeting between the two teams, Hendricks and Varnado combined for 46 points. Varnado led the Bucs to a 82-73 win. It was another Dick Beloit built up a big first half. Emanuel-coached AHS team lead and a Lawrence comeback in which rained that winning streak in March, 1956.

During the last two seasons, AHS drubbed West here (55-39 and 61-63) after having lost a first round game on the Wildcats court.

The Wildcats have been hard pressed to win their two most recent league games. They were defeated, 53-41, with Sheboygan South in the last 1 minute, 42 seconds before breaking loose for a 61-56 win at Fond du Lac last Friday, the Wildcats trailed 47-46 with four minutes left before coming through with a 62-56 victory.

In the first AHS-West game on the Wildcat court, the Terrors, at 30-all, with 2:36 left in the third quarter before they opened some daylight that led to a 56-49 victory. That margin is roughly equivalent to the traditionally-quoted home-floor advantage.

The Terrors, who are due for one of their explosive efforts after suffering successive losses of 17 and 15 points, will try to loosen up West's defense this time. In the January game, the Wildcats held AHS to only 41 shots, of which 14 found the hoop.

Faster, Higher, Farther 'Impossible' Barriers Broken by Track Stars

BY ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The days of the "impossible" of track and field are gone. Nothing is impossible today.

The jumpers go higher and faster and the runners go faster and faster. An athlete or coach of 20 years ago would not have believed such feats were possible. "Back when I was running in the 1920's," said Pinky Sober, former chairman of the Olympic track and field committee, recently, "we never thought of anything like the four-minute mile because we realized it was impossible. So why, we reasoned, shoot for the impossible?"

The figuring is outlandish as the horse and buggy. Now, practically no limits are recognized. Everyone thinks he can be the highest, farthest or fastest.

There are, of course, limits. No human, for example, ever will run the mile in say, one minute. No one ever will high jump, say, 20 feet.

Possible Record
Less than 10 years ago, in 1954, Brutus Hamilton of Southern California issued a list of possible greatest records. He didn't pick the mile, but he selected 3:41.8 for the 1,500 meters, the 418 meter.

There is about 17 seconds difference between the two, so the mile would be projected to 3:58.8. Peter Snell already has pushed it down to 3:54.4, and no miler worth his salt would admit he couldn't go under 3:58.8.

Hamilton saw the high jump as a breathtaking 7 feet, 1 inch. Russia's Valery Brumel already has climbed 7-5 1/2. In the pole vault, Hamilton took a flyer and saw 16 feet as the top. Eight vaulters already have gone over 16 feet and less than two weeks ago, Pantti Nikula of Finland topped them all, clearing 16-8 1/2.

Here then, are a set of predictions of how high, far and fast the athletes will go in the foreseeable future.

Split Among Common Mart Nations May Weaken NATO

Organization Has Everything It Needs in France Except French

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
LONDON (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has everything it needs in France except the French.
"It's a little like running a boat with the anchor down," says a NATO source.
The heart and nerve center of NATO are in France and probably will remain there indefinitely.
stockpiling of atomic weapons in France. Striking force squadrons must be located in Germany and Britain.
De Gaulle rejects Kennedy's proposal for a multinational nuclear force. He wants his own atomic striking force. His idea is getting to be known in Europe by the curious name of "the little deterrent."
De Gaulle's Words
Eventually, in De Gaulle's words, France's deterrent "will have the somber and terrible capability of destroying in a few seconds millions and millions of men."
De Gaulle says the Cuban crisis showed that America's nuclear weapons are ready to go into action for "something other than the defense of Europe and nobody can say "where, when, how and to what extent the American nuclear weapons would be employed to defend Europe."
France's policy is not to turn French weapons over to a multinational force under foreign command, but "to construct and if necessary use atomic forces ourselves—without refusing cooperation, technical or strategic, if it is desired by France's allies."
By the end of this year, De Gaulle intends to have on wheels an atom bomb about three times the size of the one dropped on Hiroshima in 1945. It will be carried by Mirage IV planes, which need U.S. refueling planes.
By 1966 De Gaulle hopes to have 50 Mirage IVs. He plans a force of solid fuel missiles of 900 to 1,200-mile range, and eventually

That is where headquarters is, where planning is done, where the NATO Council sits.
Right now, France's major contribution to NATO is geography. The French delegate sits in the council, but that's about all he does.
The Atlantic crisis provoked by France's blunt rejection of Britain's bid to enter the European Economic Community or Common Market turned a spotlight on NATO's problems with France. NATO sources say French attitudes hamper planning, that French failure to cooperate in defense systems and French insistence on acting exclusively of the other allies can cause more harm.
New Dangers
Military planning will go on, even if NATO in effect must operate virtually without France. But recent events pose new dangers for NATO.
A split among the six Common Market nations over France's veto of Britain might make the French "empty chair" a full reality, at least for a time, and that would weaken the alliance.
"I think it would be a disaster if we should divide," President Kennedy has said. "The forces in the world hostile to us are powerful."
He has responded softly to De Gaulle thunderbolts, but he has made it clear any division between the United States and Europe is a serious danger to Western security.
The possibility of a weakening is painfully present. France's veto brings grave economic problems to Britain. She may feel obliged to review her NATO commitments. Britain's three divisions—55,000 men plus support troops—in Germany cost her in the neighborhood of $200 million a year.
France herself has made no move to restore to NATO the two divisions withdrawn in pre-De Gaulle days for the Algerian crisis. She has withdrawn her dozen ships from NATO's Mediterranean force. Her contribution now amounts to two divisions in Germany, and that's it.
6 Divisions Short
NATO is still nearly six divisions short of the 30 which planners hold necessary to proceed with the forward defense program for Europe.
Atlantic Alliance is absolutely necessary," he provides its biggest headaches.
He rejects integration, which means blending defense forces under a single command. That suggests to De Gaulle a surrender of sovereignty. On that issue France caused the collapse of the European Defense Community in 1954.
De Gaulle has refused to permit

240 Lobbyists Paid $462,701

MADISON (AP)—Reports filed with the secretary of state's office showed Thursday that for work during the 1961 Wisconsin legislative session 260 employees paid 240 lobbyists a total of $462,701.
Seven of the highest paid formerly served in the Assembly or the Senate.
John A. Lawton, Madison attorney who worked for six labor employers, received the highest amount, $21,530. Irving P. Mehan of Milwaukee, who represented eight employers in insurance, banking, retail business and trading stamp fields, received $16,860. Eight employers reported paying Robert Heider of Watwatosa $15,718. He represented business, professional and municipal interests.
State law requires legislative representative employers to file statements of payments. Filings for the last session were delayed because final adjournment did not come until Jan. 9 this year.

MADISON—The tax impact of the Democratic state administration spending program came into focus today as Gov. John W. Reynolds presented the second installment of his budget message to the Republican controlled Legislature and called for increases in state revenues of at least $147 million during the next two years.

In terms that are most familiar to taxpayers, that sum would be the equivalent of a 50 per cent increase in personal income taxation, which the governor prefers, or a doubling of the collections from the present state sales tax act, which is the course the Republicans will follow when they present their alternative to the Democratic governor's expenditures and taxing proposals.

Eight Below Seen Friday

Weather Bureau Says Cold Will Continue Through Saturday

Keep your winter coat in sight. The U. S. Weather Bureau in Green Bay is promising a frigid weekend.

The weather bureau said temperatures will plunge to 8 below Friday morning, and reach a high of only 12 above Friday afternoon.

Saturday temperatures will be the same, according to the weatherman. However, he said there is some possibility the mercury will climb a little on Sunday, above the zero low mark.

Appleton thermometers neared the zero mark this morning, with a low reading of only 2 above at 9 a.m. The weather bureau said today's high will reach only plus 8.

The State Highway Department reported today that Wisconsin roads north of a line from La Crosse through Stevens Point to Marinette had scattered to frequent slippery spots, more numerous on secondary roads.

A light overnight snow and drifting brought on the condition. Highways in the area south of the Stevens Point-La Crosse-Marquette line were generally clear and in good winter driving condition.

Superior hit a state low of 10 below overnight while Park Falls reported 7 below and Eau Claire and Wausau 3 below. Other lows included a zero mark at La Crosse, 4 above at Madison and Lone Rock and 7 in Beloit.

High temperatures Wednesday ranged from 26 at Lone Rock and Beloit to 19 at Superior. Others included 24 at La Crosse, 23 at Madison and Beloit, 22 at Eau Claire, Wausau and Milwaukee and 20 at Park Falls.

Temperatures were slow to rise this morning with Superior still reporting a 10 below reading at 8 a.m. On the other side Milwaukee's 10 above reading was the high.

No stormy weather was reported across the country. Florida felt the chill of the cold air with temperatures dropping to 28 in Tallahassee, in the northern section, and to mostly in the 40s in southern areas. Miami reported a low of 50 above.

The cold air also nipped sections in the Lower Rio Grande Valley with freezing marks in some areas. It was near freezing in Brownsville and Laredo.

Oppose Payment To Special Master

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Judiciary Committee voted 5-3 Wednesday to recommend killing a bill to pay $237 to a federal court special master in the unsuccessful reappointment suit started last year by then Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds.

Introduced by Republican Assemblymen Glen Pommerening of Wauwatosa and Curtis McKay of Mequon, the measure would pay the special master's fee out of the state's general fund.

In a companion resolution, the attorney general is urged to start action to collect the amount from five Waukesha County residents who appeared as plaintiffs in the case.

'Stationary' Satellite Put in Orbit; Passes 2 Key Tests

But Radio Signals Are Lost Seconds After Small Motor Is Set Off High Over Earth

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Syncom, a new type of space communications station, soared into orbit today and successfully passed two key hurdles toward becoming the world's first satellite to seemingly stand still in space.

Success cannot be completely evaluated until the satellite has performed a number of planned, complex maneuvers, expected to take about two weeks.

If experiments planned for this intended first of a kind synchronous satellite work, the United States will have taken a big stride toward a relatively inexpensive worldwide space communications network requiring only three satellites.

A synchronous satellite is one which appears to hover over one spot on the globe because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation. This can be achieved only at an altitude close to 22,300 miles.

Radio Signals Lost

A program official reported in midmorning several hours after launching that radio signals were lost 13 seconds after a small payload motor fired with the intention of kicking Syncom into a synchronous orbit—one in which the vehicle appears to hover over one spot on earth because its speed matches that of the earth's rotation.

The satellite was launched at 12:35 a.m. by a three-stage Delta rocket which performed perfectly in drilling the craft into a giant egg-shaped orbit at about 22,000 miles an hour.

Motor Test Successful

Syncom coasted up, gradually losing speed, until it reached a point about 22,300 miles high. Then a timing device ignited the small rocket at 5:42 a.m.

The firing was to take the satellite out of the elliptical path and shove it onto a circular course at that altitude.

"The motor fired successfully," the official said, "but radio signals stopped 13 seconds later. We regained a brief signal about 7 a.m., but nothing more. We may be in a beautiful orbit and just encountering transmission difficulties."

But he said the kick rocket might have knocked the craft off course.

There was a possibility, he said.

U.S. Planes Find Ship Hijacked In Venezuela

Freighter Seized By Terrorist Group, Betancourt Foes

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —

U.S. Navy planes sighted and curbed a hijacked Venezuelan freighter today about 200 miles due south of the Dominican Republic in the Caribbean Sea, the Venezuelan navy announced.

The freighter was seized Wednesday night by members of a Communist terrorist organization opposed to the government of President Romulo Betancourt, Communications Minister Pablo Miliani reported. Earlier reports said the terrorists had help from an unidentified warship.

The Venezuelan government declared the seizure an act of piracy and asked the navies of all nations to help in capturing it.

Planes Circle Ship

The Navy announcement said the U.S. Navy planes presumably from Puerto Rico, were circling the ship.

The captain of the 3,127-ton Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui confirmed in a radio message to the government shipping company that a warship intercepted his ship en route to New Orleans, La., and a guerrilla band took it over.

The government did not identify the nationality of the intercepting warship, but it was suspected here that it was Cuban.

British Labor Elects Leader

LONDON (AP)—J. Harold Wilson, 46-year-old pipe-smoking intellectual, was elected leader of Britain's Labor party today.

Wilson filled the gap created by the death of Hugh Gaitskell who died Jan. 18 at the peak of his power and at a time when the Labor party was reaching a popularity that threatened the Conservative government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Volunteers Fight Slides and Bitter Cold Throughout Night

LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. (AP)—A durable woodcutter buried to his shoulders in treacherous shifting sand for nearly 15 hours after a well cave in was pulled free early today in apparently good condition.

Raymond "Fuzzy" Fink, 31, was rescued by a volunteer force which battled sand slides and numbing cold throughout the night to rescue him from a 24-foot pit he had dug in this northern Wisconsin community.

"I'm okay honey, I'm okay honey," Fink said as he embraced his wife Bernice who had kept a constant vigil despite the sub-zero weather.

Taken to Hospital

Fink, slightly haggard and covered with sand, rejected an offer of a stretcher, walked to a station wagon and, despite protests, was taken to a hospital in nearby Woodruff.

He complained only of a few minor aches and pains as he ordered—and was given—a drink of whiskey. Dr. Charles H. Flint said Fink appeared "perfectly all right" but would be kept at the hospital for additional examinations.

Fink who is 5-foot 10 and has a slight but muscular build, was described by the doctor as "pretty darned tough." A check of his heart and lungs showed no damage in the long ordeal.

"My biggest worry was getting the sheet full of sand," Fink said while resting in a hospital bed.

"I feel fine. I'd like to get up and go home."

Fink, a member of a woodcutting crew with two brothers, Lawrence and Robert, was entombed when the sides of the well caved in Wednesday afternoon. However, Lawrence dug frantically with his hands and managed to claw sand away from his brother's head.

The rescue was tedious as police officers, prison camp inmates and others worked side by side through the night in floodlights which turned a tiny forest clearing into a shadowy amphitheatre.

Pulled From Hole

"I knew they would get me out," Fink said, "I want to thank all the officers and fellows who've been working on this."

Fink was joined in the hospital by his wife and three brothers. Two children, Carl, 5, and Mike, 6, were at home.

"He had a bushel of sand and dirt in his clothing," Dr. Flint said after Fink was pulled on a harness straight up from the hole.

Rescuers virtually had to inch their way through the treacherous sand in digging a tunnel on one side to free Fink and enable him to be pulled out.

As the crew worked cautiously during the night Fink told them, "I've been in tougher spots."

Crash of Plane Laid Tentatively To Bad Weather

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Blustery Florida weather got the tentative blame today for a Northwest Orient Airlines jetliner's plunge into the Everglades with loss of 43 lives.

A federal investigator who would not be quoted by name said the plane apparently "broke apart in a thunderstorm. It just wrenched apart."

Rain and gusty winds ruffled Florida Tuesday, the day of the crash unroofing some dwellings and prompting tornado warnings in north and central portions of the state.

The Civil Aeronautics Board sent investigators to the marshy scene of the four-engine Boeing 720B's tragic plunge, nine miles from the nearest road, but said its findings would not be made public for several days.

The CAB and other investigative agencies apparently were not prepared to say the airplane blew apart in flight. But officers who explored the crash scene said bodies and other substantial debris of the crash were scattered within a radius of more than 200 yards of the shattered aircraft.

Wanted to Go to Top

Disturbed Man Causes Bomb Scare in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—A disturbed man who wanted to "take his trouble right to the top" gave historic Pennsylvania Avenue a bad case of heebie-jeebies with a two-hour bomb scare.

Nathan Wise, 33, of Phoenix, Ariz., wheeled his car out of the noon hour traffic Wednesday and drove it up on the steps of the Justice Department building. Swiftly crawling under it, Wise demanded to see FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover—the only man he said he could trust.

He had evidence, he said, to "unmpeach President Kennedy and his Cabinet."

His car also gave the impression of a great homemade bomb. Police who approached him got a strong whiff of gasoline and spotted a strange suitcase wired to the bottom of the car.

"I won't come out," Wise told them. "I'll die right here. I'll never leave here alive. Don't come near me or I'll blow the place up."

Police didn't take chances. They called an Army bomb squad and blocked off the neighborhood. Traffic was stopped. The first two floors of the big Justice Department building were evacuated.

Factory Work Week Take Dip

WASHINGTON (AP)—The factory work week dipped 0.4 hours during January, to 40.1 hours, the Labor Department said today. It was the second successive month of decline.

The drop for January was described as slightly more than seasonal, and the Bureau of Labor Statistics said there would be reason for concern if there is a continued drop in February.

However, the January work week compares with one of 39.7 hours in January 1962.

Police seize a man routed by tear gas from beneath an automobile who Wednesday threatened to blow up the Justice Department. The man drove his auto onto a sidewalk at the Department, crawled under the car and said he would blow up the building unless permitted to talk to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. ## Kennedy Submits Broad Program for Nation's Youth

Opportunity Needed to Use Talents, He Tells Congress

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy wrapped together in a single unprecedented package today all his proposals to aid the nation's youth. He sent it to Congress with word that "our youth deserve and require a better chance."

"We must afford them every opportunity to develop and use their talents," Kennedy said. "If we serve them better now, they will serve their nation better when the burdens are theirs alone."

Offers Broad Program

Accordingly, Kennedy asked Congress for legislation and financing on a broad scale.

He bid for a "Youth Conservation Corps" to work in parks and forests. He urged creation of a sort of home town youth corps.

He called again for a domestic peace corps—it would be named the National Service Corps. He asked that the existing Peace Corps overseas be expanded by nearly one-half.

And the President emphasized need for action on juvenile delinquency, family welfare, education and health and physical fitness. The total price tag for all the projects is obscure, even though Kennedy has recommended all of them before in general if not specific terms.

Lists Major Problems

Kennedy buttressed the plea for action with figures and arguments he has used many times. He spoke of the mounting birth rate, the over-crowding of schools, the growing proportion of unemployment among young people, the increase in juvenile arrests and delinquency.

The future promise of any nation he said "can be directly measured by the present prospects of its youth. This nation—facing increasingly dependence on the opportunities capabilities and vitality of those who are soon to bear its chief responsibilities."

As outlined in the message and by officials who would have some of the responsibility for them, the various corps would shape up this way:

Youth Conservation Corps — a present day version of the Civilian Conservation Corps that built parks, trails, lakes and roads in the depression of the 1930s.

It would start with 15,000 boys and be allowed a maximum of 60,000 at any one time. They could enroll for six months originally and serve a total of two years by re-enlisting. Basic pay would be $60 a month plus travel and living expenses.

Home town youth corps — Both boys and girls could enroll for work in hospitals, schools, parks and settlement houses. The corps could hire up to 40,000 youngsters the first year and go up to a maximum of 50,000 later. The pay scale has not been determined.

The conservation and home town corps would take in semi-skilled or unskilled young people.

City, Chamber Check Future For Appleton

Officials Hold Informal Meeting On Planned Growth

City officials and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night took a microscopic look at Appleton's growth and the pronged problems accompanying it.

They pledged a united front to cope with present and future needs of the community during an informal get-together at the Butte des Morts Golf Club.

The theme of the two-hour session, arranged by the Chamber's Project 70 Committee, appeared to be one of mutual understanding and cooperation, and the realization that municipal improvements do not spring up overnight.

Sound Planning

Spokesmen for both the city and chamber stressed the importance of sound planning and the urgency for obtaining a comprehensive plan for the City of Appleton. The plan, often referred to by professional planners as "the bible of the future," will tie in present and long-range needs of the entire community.

There was a consensus that some projects required priority over others, and that the proposed reconstruction of College Avenue tied up in other municipal improvements, such as extension of some streets to improve the community's traffic flow, sewer construction and others.

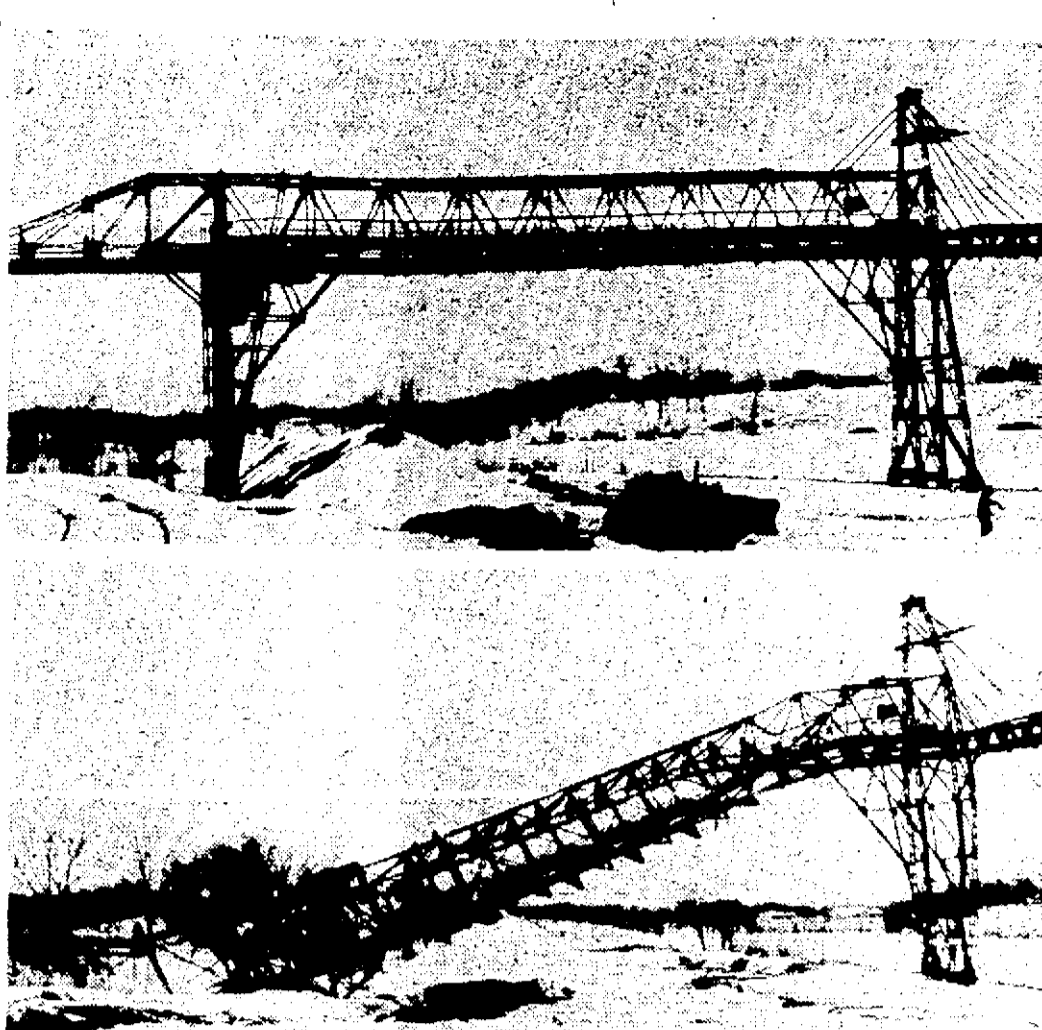

The purpose of the gathering was to promote better understanding of Project 70 objectives and city problems. Judging from post-meeting comments of city officials and the representatives of the city's business community, mission was accomplished.

Ald. Alvin Tews (5th) and Edward Krueger (11th), along with Mayor Clarence Mitchell, gave their impressions from the city and art exhibits and demonstrations, begins Friday afternoon and continues through Sunday evening.

Harold Nelson, Xavier art teacher, is chairman of the event. Catholic schools from the Fox Cities area will participate.

The three-day emphasis on the fine arts will begin with a debate demonstration at a student assembly at 2 p.m. Friday. Debaters from Xavier High School and Appleton High School will take part. Robert Baer, Xavier debate coach, is in charge of this part of the program.

Two Escape As Flames Raze Home

Two elderly Town of Vandenberg residents escaped with their lives and the clothes on their backs when flames engulfed their four-room frame home about 12:30 p.m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wyro, Maloney Road north of Kaukauna, said the fire apparently started in the garage of their home.

The couple was sitting in the home when they noticed smoke in the kitchen, apparently caused by chicken boiling on the stove. Wyro got up to turn on the light and found there was no electricity.

He went into the garage to investigate and discovered the fire. Mrs. Wyro tried to get out the back door and saw the flames. Both got outside seconds before fire swept through the home.

Town of Vandenberg firemen poured water on the blaze, but the fire was out of control. The home was destroyed.

Billowing smoke could be seen for miles. Traffic was tied up as firemen brought equipment.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyro are staying with relatives. Mr. Wyro is 76 and Mrs. Wyro is 73.

Police Meet With John DiBella in Closed Door Talks

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC — City, county and state law enforcement officials held a guarded-door, coffee and doughnuts session here Wednesday with John V. DiBella, Italian cheese company executive and acquaintance of known underworld characters.

The pre-arranged meeting was the second in recent weeks between DiBella and authorities who are conducting an investigation into charges by Gov. Reynolds that a network of organized crime exists in Fond du Lac County and a segment of its booming Italian cheese industry.

Although authorities and DiBella's attorney, Dominic Frinzi of Milwaukee, preferred to comment about cheese rather than what transpired at the meeting in a conference room on the second floor of the Safety Building—the Post-Crescent learned what took place behind the closed doors.

DiBella, 72, produced records of his Grande Cheese Co. and offered to give authorities all the information they wanted concerning its operation. However, on direct questioning he would make no comment on his associations with underworld characters.

One of DiBella's longtime friends and a periodic visitor to the downtown hotel where he has lived for close to 10 years is Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno. The latter was a delegate to the crime syndicate convention in 1957 Apalachin, N.Y. At one time Bonanno sold cheese for the Gourmay Cheese Co. of Lomira, just over the county line in Dodge County. It has been reported that Bonanno's wife, Fay, has owned stock in DiBella's Grande Cheese Co.

Would Tell
"DiBella said he would tell authorities all they wanted to know about the Grande Cheese Co., but would not talk about some of his friends or their activities," a reliable source said.

"DiBella told authorities that if they wanted information about some of his underworld acquaintances, they (the authorities) should go ask them themselves."

It proved to be an interesting meeting and there is possibility of another, it was learned. DiBella offered no comment for newsmen after the meeting and referred questions to Frinzi whose only comment was: "Because of the nature of the cheese industry competitiveness, we feel the matter should be kept private."

No Pictures
District Atty. Thomas K. Massey had an almost identical statement. Photographers were not permitted to take any pictures. It was further learned that in addition to operating records of the Grande Cheese Co., DiBella listed the stockholders who included mostly relatives, and Mrs. Joseph Bonanno. The latter was described as "a minor stockholder."

There was also disclosure that DiBella and his group control other business operations in Wisconsin, including a restaurant in the Madison area.

The meeting was arranged after DiBella and his attorney walked into the Safety Building a few weeks ago with Grande Cheese Co. records and demanded that "someone in authority clear the air." Participating were DiBella; Frinzi; Al Caruso, a vice president of the cheese co.; Massey, Sheriff Raymond Howard, Assistant Police Chief Harold Rutenberg; Police Capt. Willard Galow; along with LeRoy Dalton and George Schwahn of the state attorney general's office.

State Probe
Dalton has been one of the investigators in the Milwaukee John Doe proceedings. Schwahn, a native of Fond du Lac, is also an investigator for the state.

After his first claim of organized crime festering in the county, Gov. John Reynolds issued a subsequent statement that the victims of four unsolved Chicago gangland slayings between 1943 and 1946 had one thing in common — they had been connected with the Grande Cheese Co.

Frinzi indicated that a good session was had and offered "to come back and cooperate at any time."

Guarded Door
County Police Officer Dan Songdard, a giant of a man, was posted in front of the door of the conference room. DiBella, emerging from the room smiling, thanked the officer for his services.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by the group by Sheriff Howard during the noon hour.

DiBella and Frinzi were described as being "sharp but congenial."

Plans Meeting
Massey will meet with Atty. Gen. George Thompson here tonight when they attend a Republican Party function.

Massey said today he is studying the information gathered from recent trips to Chicago and Milwaukee, plus conferences with state officials and DiBella.

"I feel we are getting some place with our investigation into the Governor's charges," Massey said. He did not indicate if he could prove or disprove them.

However, Massey did disclose that he intends to issue a public statement concerning "this over-permitted to take any pictures, all situation" on Friday or Saturday.

CD Office Gives Okay for Sirens

Joint Warning System Details Okayed by Federal Government

Bid specifications for sirens to be used in the Outagamie County-Appleton civil defense system were approved by the Federal Office of Civil Defense, Lee Penney, civil defense director, explained today.

Penney made the statement to explain why all three bids to provide siren warning equipment for the civil defense system were rejected by the city-county civil defense committee on Monday.

Members of the committee objected to bids received because only one siren manufacturer had a bid which complied with specifications for the warning system which had been set up by Penney.

Requirements for the city-county siren equipment call for 27 sirens, 14 of them 125 decibel sirens and 13 of them 110 decibel sirens.

One bidder, Biersach and Niedermeyer, Milwaukee, submitted a bid containing only 125 decibel sirens. Federal Sign and Signal Corp., Chicago, submitted bids based on the specifications which had been drawn up by Penney.

During the day members of the committee decided to reject all the bids because they were told that Federal is the only firm manufacturing 110 decibel sirens. Some members felt that, as a result, they were unable to receive competitive bids.

The 125 decibel sirens have a range of about two and a half more distance than the 110 decibel sirens.

Penney talked to Jack Gourlie, contributions officer for the Wisconsin Civil Defense office, Wednesday and Gourlie said that there are at least four firms in the United States who manufacture 110 decibel signs.

Gourlie was to check with the national civil defense office in Battle Creek, Mich., and then pass the information back to Penney sometime today.

Penney said, "We had 110 decibel sirens in our specifications because that is what sound engineers determined would be proper coverage in the areas where we would use this type of siren."

Eight Listed
"On a list of approved siren manufacturers, dated 1961, which I have in my office, there are eight manufacturers of 110 decibel sirens listed. So I drew up the bid specifications thinking I would receive more than one bid."

"But at Monday's meeting, the Biersach and Niedermeyer representative showed the committee a letter telling of an expected revision of the approved 110 decibel siren manufacturers. But I haven't received any list revision yet," Penney said.

He explained that if he finds out that there is only one approved manufacturer of 110 decibel

Shoreline Area Survey Report to be Presented

NEENAH — A complete report on the proposed Shore Lane Shopping Area development survey will be made by Calvin Zernicke at tonight's meeting of the Shore Lane Shopping area members, according to John Konrad, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Neenah-Menasha. The meeting, to be held in the Lakewood Lanes building, will start at 9 p.m.

Zernicke is head of the survey program.

Community Fund Work Discussed at Annual Meeting

Six Directors Elected During Sessions for Appleton Charity

Suggestions for more effective operation of the United Community Services of Appleton were given by delegates in a brainstorming session at the annual meeting Wednesday night at Alex's Manor House.

The research and planning department was urged to continue its study of a family service agency, county health department and fee charging for health, welfare and recreation services.

In discussion of the Red Feather campaign, improvements in residential solicitation were suggested and expansion of the payroll payment plan was proposed.

Delegates felt that those not living in Appleton do receive services for their gifts. A clearing house for fund drives was advocated. The necessity of the Red Feather agencies to identify themselves throughout the year as part of the campaign was stressed.

The geographic area to be covered by the U.C.S. was given consideration. It was the consensus that the Red Feather agencies should not raise funds for operating expenses outside the one United Red Feather Campaign. Several ways of making the Red Feather campaign more inclusive were suggested.

Six Elected
Six new members were elected to the board of directors and seven members were re-elected. Elected to a three-year term were: Fred Heimritz, Mrs. B. A. Pfeiffer, the Rev. W. C. McKinnon, Richard Van Sistine and Marwin Wroldstad. Elected to a one-year term was John Dixon. Re-elected for three years were Mrs. Harry Brown, Dr. William Chandler, Charles Heeter, Donald Herring, Frank Okada and Mrs. Paul Tupper.

Following the annual meeting, the new board elected Marwin Heiden, president; Mrs. Harold Ornstein, first vice president; Charles Heeter, second vice president, and Frans Larson, treasurer. A. Rowland Todd is executive director. The nominating committee report was presented by George Howden, chairman.

Reports on the activities of the U.C.S. were presented by the department chairmen. William Cherkasky, chairman of the research and planning department, stressed the importance of seeing that the governmental and voluntary services of the community provide the best possible services. The U.C.S. offers one place the citizens of the community can work toward improving these services, he said.

Richard Van Sistine, public information department chairman, reported on a youth radio program to be started on WHBY at 1:05 p.m. Saturday. Miss Alice Huck of his committee had developed this radio series. He reported on a program guide being developed for groups interested in a program dealing with health and welfare. The Appleton Post-Crescent and radio stations were thanked for their cooperation.

Gave Report
In reporting on the activities of the budget department, Melvern Hemmen cited the difficulty of weighing the needs of the community for one type of service

Joseph Shift Chairman of Advisory Unit

Joseph Shift was elected chairman of the Salvation Army advisory board at the annual meeting Wednesday evening.

Other new officers are Robert Spooner, vice-chairman, and Marwin Wroldstad, treasurer. Mrs. O. C. Boldt was re-elected secretary. Officers will serve for one year.

Six new board members were elected. Those elected for three-year terms were Robert Chase, Dr. Charles Fenlon, Dr. Gilbert Mueller Jr., Mrs. Ralph Nelson and Thomas Orbinson. Herbert Crane was elected for a two-year term.

Major William F. Kish, Milwaukee, spoke to the group and showed slides on the Martha Washington Home for Unwed Mothers in Wauwatosa.

Captain Jacob Bender gave his annual report, and the yearly financial statement was read. About 35 persons attended the dinner meeting, held at the Salvation Army building.

Being Worked Out 'Bugs' in Collections Delay Courthouse Mail

one day, but a correction in the procedure is being studied, Francis Sumnicht, postmaster, said today.

Afternoon mail which leaves the courthouse normally at 4:35 p.m. every evening was not collected Monday night. The post office began collecting the mail in the courthouse at 4:35 p.m. In the Monday evening mail were about 75 alimony checks which are mailed each Monday from the clerk of courts, Syd Shannon's office. The checks were delayed in shipment one day, according to Shannon.

Sumnicht said today the procedure is being temporarily taken care of with two collections at the courthouse in the evening — the first at 4:35 p.m., and the second at 7:15 p.m.

Made Shift
The shift to the earlier time, said Sumnicht, falls in line with the post office's program to collect mails earlier from heavy mailers. The program has been in operation for about one year among industries and municipal organizations. Monday the operation was put on a trial basis at the courthouse.

County Clerk Mollie Pfeiffer said Thursday the deadline for mail into her office for shipment is 4:15 p.m. She said the mail is then processed, and put in the large mailbox in the basement of the building before 5 p.m. Miss Pfeiffer said she was not aware of the post office's change in collection Monday night.

Sumnicht said the post office and the courthouse are now "negotiating" to iron out the "bugs" in the collection program to prevent other delays. He said earlier collections would make it possible for the post office to save valuable time and money.

Sumnicht said one year ago, 70 per cent of the mail sent from Appleton was processed through the post office after 5 p.m. With the earlier collections, Sumnicht estimated, 30 per cent is processed after 5 p.m.

Chilton Parish Plans Annual Marriage Series

St. Mary Church Site of 6 Talks For Engaged Couples

CHILTON—St. Mary congregation again will serve as host to a marriage preparation course.

The annual six-week course of instruction for couples contemplating marriage and newly weds will open March 3 and be completed April 7. This is the third year the Chilton parish has served as a center for the program conducted annually during Lent in the parishes of the surrounding area. # Chilton Tigers to Gun for Fifth League Win in EWC Play Friday

EASTERN WIS. CONFERENCE

Valders	10	1	Chilton	4
Shib Falls	18	1	Oostburg	3
Plymouth	9	2	Brillion	3
New Holstein	8	3	Kiel	2
Elkhart Lake	5	4	Kohler	1

Friday's Schedule:
Kiel at Chilton.
Valders at New Holstein.
Brillion at Plymouth.
Elkhart Lake at Oostburg.
Shib Falls at Kohler.

CHILTON—The Chilton Tigers will be gunning for their fifth league win Friday night when they entertain Kiel as the Eastern Wisconsin Conference goes into its second-to-last week.

In the first meeting of the two teams at Kiel, the Tigers rolled to an easy 14-point win and rule as favorites in the rematch with the home court advantage. The Tigers, 4-7 in the league, displayed balance Tuesday night while downing Oostburg Three Tigers, led by Tom Dhein, were in the double figures and one was a point shy.

Rich Platz and Gene Drumm have been the top scorers for the 2-9 Raiders.

Brillion travels to Plymouth and the hosts should be up for the contest. The Panthers, 9-2, still have a chance to grab a share of the league title but need victories in their final two contests to keep their hopes alive. Mark Rhode has been the top gunner for the towering Panthers—by far the tallest team in the conference.

The Lions will be gunning for an upset. Their thrilling last second win over Chilton a week ago could inspire the Jim Ross. John Lindner sparked Lions, 3-8 in the league.

Valders' championship mettle will be given a final acid test Friday at New Holstein. The visitors share first place with Shib.

Youth From Green Bay Forfeits $50 Bond for Not Reporting Accident

WAUPACA—A. Ronald Vieaux, 20, Green Bay, forfeited a $50 bond in Municipal Justice Court, Clintonville, after he was arrested for failure to report an accident.

County police said Vieaux was driving west on County 1, about 9:10 p.m. Sunday when the car skidded across U.S. 45 and ran into a cemetery fence. He was ordered to pay $150 for the damages to the fence. Damages to his car were estimated at $20.

He was arrested about 15 minutes after the accident by Clarence Draeger, county policeman.

Damages Total $300 in Clintonville Car Mishap

WAUPACA—A car driven by Charles H. Freeze, 66, route 3, Clintonville, was damaged about 8 p.m. Friday when it went into a ditch off Brandy Creek Road, county police reported.

Freeze told police the other car stopped on the left side of the road while the driver was changing a flat tire.

Shibogan Falls at 10-1 and a victory over New Holstein would all but clinch at least a share of the title. The Vikings close at home against lowly Brillion.

But a victory won't be easy. The Huskies, after faltering at mid-season, have been tearing recent opponents to bits with a leach-like press and a fast breaking offense. The return of Bob Piper and Ed Flynn to the lineup has made the difference under the boards and in the scoring column.

The Vikings will counter with a solid team effort. Any one of the starters is capable of coming up with a big scoring effort.

The Days Are Getting Longer And So Are Our Hours

Now Appleton State Bank's drive-in and walk-up windows are open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily and from 9:30 until 8 p.m. on Friday. We think you'll find these new longer hours a lot more convenient.

Our temporary drive-in window is located just south of the new bank, to your right as you enter from Superior Street. You can't miss it. This new window is temporary, until we complete the second half of the bank this summer. But we're glad to keep our record unbroken of 15 years drive-in banking — the longest in this area.

The new walk-up window is just off the main entrance on College Avenue. Three "redhead" 15-minute meters in front of the bank mean you'll have no trouble parking if you only need to make a quick stop.

To celebrate finishing the first half and moving in almost overnight, we added another customer convenience. We'll be open continuously in the main bank on Fridays, from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Wave to us as you pass by on College Avenue or, better still, stop in and say hello.

Students Mourn Death Of Beloved Teacher

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The flag at McCarthy School flew at half-staff Wednesday. It was not indicative of the death of a national celebrity, a well-known statesman or a famous American hero.

It was much more than this to youngsters at the school. It was the death of a dear friend, their teacher, Mrs. Jill Conlon, killed in an auto accident. Youngsters from the small one-room school arrived at classes Wednesday morning eagerly looking forward to another day with their friend.

They had stories to tell about what happened since leaving school Tuesday. They looked forward to going back into history with their teacher, learning about great men of the past, studying how to improve their English, learning new tricks in mathematics, continuing their reading experiences and visiting foreign nations in geography.

Make Valentines

Probably one of the big things planned for the day was an art class where they could make Valentines for distribution at a Valentine party today. Perhaps finishing touches would be made on Valentines to be presented to mom and dad by youngsters who feel proudly about their creative work.

All these things were to be directed by their teacher. She would be on hand to help, to guide and to insure that each youngster worked to his capabilities.

It took only a matter of minutes after children arrived to learn the sad truth. Their teacher had died in an automobile accident Tuesday. Bewildered they began their trek home. No classes today, our friend is gone.

What of the future? Who will take care of us? Who will replace this smiling beautiful young woman, we have learned to love so well since starting school in September?

Still Shocked

Older students knowing of death, realize it is inevitable, but still are shocked by the suddenness with which it strikes close to home. The younger children shed tears as they ponder this strange world which can take one so young, so kind. They are anxious to return home to the safety of their mothers where they feel secure, where they may find some answers to the questions bothering them.

Why? Why was it my teacher? Why was it one so young, so good, so kind, so sweet. Why? Why?

But who can answer these questions? No one can know about the many things which happen to mankind? Someone above must have a reason, a purpose, and it is up to those who remain not to ponder the why.

Supervisors Make Policy Official

The county board has made official an "unwritten" rule on outsiders talking before the board.

The new ruling says any outsider can address the board if supervisors grant unanimous consent. If there is an objection, a two-thirds vote of the county board membership can override the objection.

The same procedure has been followed prior to this time, although the policy apparently was not in written form.

Girl Fatally Burned After Playing With Fire in Home

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—A young Howard girl died early today of burns received Sunday while playing with a cigarette lighter at her home.

Jeanee Anderson, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anderson, died about 3:30 this morning, the day after her sixth birthday.

She suffered second and third degree burns over 30 per cent of her body about eight a.m. Sunday while playing in the living room of her home while her parents attended church.

Relatives said Jeanee and her four-year-old brother Kenneth were playing with a cigarette lighter. Jeanee's clothes caught fire and her cries alerted her 13-year-old sister Barbara who wrapped the young girl in a rug and extinguished the flames.

Kenneth, meanwhile, ran next door and summoned help. The neighbors took Jeanee to a hospital where she was admitted about 8:30 a.m. The girl remained in critical condition at the hospital until she died.

The hospital failed to notify authorities of the accident and the sheriff's department and Howard Fire Department knew nothing of the incident.

Post Office Warns Against Chain Letters

The illegal Savings Bond chain letter scheme has cropped up again from coast to coast, according to United States postal officials.

Post Office Department spokesman said today the operation, using U.S. Savings Bonds as the lure, has been reported in California, Colorado, Texas and Virginia.

Appleton Postmaster Francis Sumnicht said there has been no recent report of such letters being circulated here.

"We had two rashers of those in the past, including last spring," he commented, "but for the last six months it has been pretty quiet." Citizens are warned that use of the mails to further the scheme is a violation of mail fraud and lottery statutes.

The chain letter theory is that the person at the top of the list should be flooded with savings bonds from those who join the scheme after him. But postal officials note the chain breaks down and many people are victimized.

study are the geographic area of the U.C.S. and the inclusiveness of agencies and services in the United Red Feather Campaign, he said.

'Stationary' Satellite Meets First Big Tests

that temperature in the satellite was too hot, upsetting communications. As a possible means of solving such a problem, he reported, the spacecraft systems were turned off and will be restored by ground signal later.

Critical Phases Passed

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the two critical early phases of flight—the launching and the firing of the small rocket—had occurred.

But it said that several hours of tracking would be required to determine how successfully the ignition of the small rocket had been.

The firing occurred high above the equator between Madagascar and the East African Coast. During the long coast period, the satellite's speed had slowed to less than 3,500 miles an hour. The burst of power from its motor was aimed at increasing this to about 6,870 miles, equaling the speed of the earth's rotation.

Goal of Scientists

To make most effective use of ground communications stations, scientists want the satellite to hang like a star over the equator between South America and Africa.

Hydrogen peroxide gas jets, like those U.S. astronauts use to control the attitude of their spacecraft in orbit, were to be fired by ground command to help the satellite drift westward to the desired spot, a maneuver intended to take about two weeks. Once Syncom gets there, the gas jets would keep it there.

Limited communications experiments were scheduled to start about five days after launching. The satellite antenna was not to be properly oriented for continuous testing until the satellite was over the South Atlantic Ocean.

Principal sound stations are at Lakehurst, N.J., and on a ship anchored in Lagos Harbor, Nigeria, on the West African coast.

Weights 86 Pounds

Because of its relatively small size Syncom is not equipped for television transmissions as were the Telstar and Relay communications satellites launched last year. Syncom, an 86-pound package built by Hughes Aircraft Co., is geared for telephone, teletype and radio transmissions, which project officials hope will prove the feasibility of using high altitude synchronous satellites not only for communications, but for weather forecasting and other duties.

Because a satellite at the 22,300-mile altitude would be in range of more than one-third of the earth's surface a system of three syncoms at equally spaced points around the equator would provide continuous worldwide communications coverage.

Distance Big Problem

The lower altitude Telstar and Relay systems would require 40 or 50 satellites and a far more extensive—and expensive—ground station network.

A major problem to be probed by Syncom was what happens when signals are sent out to such a great distance and returned. The six-tenths of a second required for the transfer of words might prove inconvenient for telephone conversation.

"We think, however, that people could learn to pause for that brief period while waiting for a reply," explained Alton Jones, Syncom project manager for the space agency's Goddard Space Flight Center.

"Our studies have shown that most people don't become irritated until seven-tenths of a second—except those who talk very fast or who are very impatient."

No True Orbit

Syncom was not to enter a truly synchronous orbit. This can be achieved only by firing directly from a point on the equator or guiding a rocket fired from Cape Canaveral so that the upper stages would fire above the equator.

The Delta does not have the power for this maneuver, so Syncom was to trace an elongated figure 8 pattern as it crossed back and forth above one spot on the equator.

Jones said this is close enough to a true synchronous orbit to provide a test of the system's effectiveness.

Later, an advanced Syncom, boosted by a more powerful rocket, is to be perfectly synchronous and will have television transmission capabilities.

The 22,300-mile altitude is the point in space in which a satellite will travel at the same speed as the earth rotates on its axis, about 6,860 miles an hour. Thus, both earth and satellite swing around once each day, or every 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4 seconds.

UW Coed Asphyxiated Accidentally in France

MADISON (AP)—A University of Wisconsin junior coed, Karen Budzien, 21, of Manitowish, who had been studying in France, was accidentally asphyxiated Wednesday, the university announced.

The death occurred in the girl's living quarters at Aix-en-Provence, France.

Miss Budzien was enrolled in a university program which included a year's study in France. The death was reported to the university by the program's director.

the Roman Catholic Church by the Rev. Jerome Trantow at nightfall. The priest maintained his vigil as the side of the pit was dug away from Fink's head.

As one sand slide after another frustrated rescuers, Father Trantow shouted down, "I've got the Rosary going pretty good up here."

"And I've got it going pretty hot down here," replied Fink from inside a metal culvert placed over his head to keep him from being smothered by the treacherous sand common in this northern Wisconsin area.

A cup of warm milk was lowered in a bucket to Fink about 2 a.m. He asked for some more about 30 minutes later. The milk was his first nourishment since the cave in about 3 p.m. Wednesday.

A physician had been unable to reach him because of the danger of additional sand slides.

Fink's wife rushed to the scene from their home in Athens, about 80 miles south, after hearing of the cave in. As the night wore on and temperatures dropped below zero, she occasionally left her place at the pit to seek warmth in a trailer that had housed Fink and other members of a woodcutting crew.

Fink had been working with his brother, an uncle, Paul Fink, and Art Frank, also of Athens. Early efforts to pull Fink free were made by the crew, and a few passersby. At one time, Lawrence sat on the slope of the pit and removed the sand a bucketful at a time.

Lawrence also anointed his brother with the holy oils of the last rites. Father Trantow stood at the pit edge reading the prayers, lowered the ointments to Lawrence in a bucket and told him how to apply them.

for the next two years of $600 million, as reported to the Legislature today, would reach nearly $700 million, if he has his way, and the tax deficit would rise correspondingly.

There is very little chance that he will have his way.

The Republican Legislative leadership last week greeted his state agencies appropriation recommendations with anger and derision and flatly announced that they intend to trim them back severely.

There is also a firm resolve in the Legislature to reject the Reynolds plan for income tax boosts which would make the income taxes charged here the highest in the country.

And on the basis of Gov. Nelson's failure to win tax redistribution from the Republican Legislature two years ago, there is no reason to believe that Reynolds can win his point about resurfacing local tax shares today.

But the Governor has ignored the hostile reactions of the Legislature. In his message today he seemed to be setting out to test the Biblical proverb that "the soft answer turneth away wrath."

He wants "this Legislature to write a great record," and it can do so by ratifying his fiscal proposals, he explained.

"When these programs to provide for the needs of our people are passed, I will be more than happy to give full credit for its passage to the Republican Legislative majority," he promised.

But the overtures are almost certain to be in vain.

The Republicans will write their own state budget and finance program, and submit it to the Governor on a take it or leave it basis, and then adjourn the Legislature to give him time to contemplate his dilemma, according to their present plan.

But the governor hastened to add that he considered the "true spending level" of his budget to be $626.3 million because of a decision to use $43 million in lapsed balances and locally shared taxes to finance total appropriations.

The tax diversion, or "skim-off," as opponents are sure to label it, would come about through a change in the present formula for redistributing income and utility taxes collected by the state.

Tax Message

Reynolds said details of the change would have to await the presentation of his tax message next week. But he volunteered that "a comparative handful" of low property tax communities would be the target and that reductions in their shares from the state would total 38.5 million.

The use of lapsed balances of state agencies not spending their authorized amounts would account for the remaining $4.5 million in diverted funds.

The governor said a total of $147 million in new taxes would have to be raised to balance his budget, finance money bills not included in it, and wipe out what he called an "inherited deficit."

Balancing the new budget would eat up $113.7 million of the revenue total, and meeting the shortages of the current one would take $22.9 million. Of the remainder, $8 million is earmarked for programs to be proposed later and $2.4 million is necessary, Reynolds said, to offset the amount the present revenue structure falls short of current biennial expenditures.

ra, said the hijackers identified themselves as members of the Communist-led, pro-Castro FALN, the Armed Forces of National Liberation.

Pereira said he and his 35 crewmen were well.

The hijackers broadcast from the ship that they had seized it as a "protest before world opinion against the present government in Venezuela."

Officials indicated two or more of Venezuela's five destroyers were searching for the pirated ship.

A high official said Betancourt's government would ask friendly countries to join in the search.

Capt. Pereira's message did not say where the freighter was boarded nor did he give its subsequent position.

On Way to Houston

The Anzoategui left La Guaira, the port of Caracas, on Tuesday for Houston, Tex., and New Orleans.

The seizure of the ship was announced Wednesday night by the FALN in statements left surreptitiously at Caracas newspaper offices. The extremists said they guaranteed the safety of the crew.

The FALN said two squadrons of guerrillas headed by Commanders Simon and Rafael seized the ship. They did not say how or when the job was done.

Portuguese rebels hijacked the Portuguese liner Santa Maria two years ago after boarding it at La Guaira. The hijackers, opponents of Portuguese dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, finally released the liner and its approximately 950 passengers and crewmen in Brazilian waters. The hijackers took refuge in Brazil.

The claimed seizure of the freighter capped weeks of sporadic terrorism designed to embarrass Betancourt and force him to cancel his departure Monday for an official visit to the United States.

The president, who Wednesday celebrated his fourth anniversary in office, has refused to suspend or cancel the trip.

Terrors Face Leading West Quint Friday

never won an undisputed FRVC cage championship (they've shared four), enjoy a 1-game lead over Manitowoc with only three left to play.

Friday night's assignment in the AHS gym against the in-and-out Terrors is conceded to be West's toughest remaining hurdle. The Wildcats' final two foes are off-beaten Green Bay East and Sheboygan North.

Seeks 9-9 Finish

AHS, which now shares third place with Sheboygan South, must win its three remaining games to finish with a 9-9 regular-season record. If the Terrors are to realize a surprise first-division finish, they must win down the home stretch to ward off the late challenge of Oshkosh, which is coming up fast.

Friday night represents only the start of the Terrors' thorny weekend — the most demanding any FRVC team will be called on to face this season. For Saturday night, AHS invades Manitowoc to face the runnerup Ships.

Other Friday night attractions, in addition to GBW vs. Appleton, are: Manitowoc at East, Oshkosh at North and South at Fond du Lac. Rebounding out the twin round of games are these Saturday night contests (besides the AHS-at-Manly encounter): East at West, Fond du Lac at Oshkosh and North at South.

The veteran West team, which was reinforced by the addition of Premont regular Paul Chihla, has surprised even its coach, "Spider" Kloss, formerly of Neenah. In a pre-season evaluation, Kloss rated his team "more like a spoiler" than a serious contender. The coach allowed as how the Wildcats were too deficient in depth and speed to be able to keep pace with such strong-looking teams as Manitowoc and South.

10-Win Streak

But the Wildcats have clawed their way to the head of the conference and into the top five in state rankings with outstanding defensive play, tenacious rebounding and just enough scoring to get the job done.

West goes into Friday's game with a 13-2 season's record and a 10-game winning streak — the school's longest since the glory days of Lance Olson and company. It was another Dick Emanuel-coached AHS team which ruined that winning streak in March, 1956.

During the last two seasons, AHS drubbed West here (55-39 and 81-63) after having lost a first-round game on the Wildcats' court.

The Wildcats have been hard pressed to win their two most recent league games. They were deadlocked, 33-31, with Sheboygan South in the last 1 minute, 42 seconds before breaking loose for a 61-56 win. At Fond du Lac last Friday, the Wildcats trailed, 47-44, with four minutes left before coming through with a 62-56 victory.

In the first AHS-West game, on the Wildcat court, the Terrors stayed even, at 30-31, with 2:36 left in the third quarter before West opened some daylight that led to a 56-49 victory. That margin is roughly equivalent to the traditionally-quoted home-floor advantage.

The Terrors, who are due for one of their explosive efforts after suffering successive losses of 17 and 15 points, will try to loosen up West's defense this time. In the January game, the Wildcats held AHS to only 41 shots, of which 14 found the hoop.

Emanuel rates the West defense

as one of the best he has seen in his 10 seasons of FRVC coaching. The AHS defense, most porous in the conference, will try to find a way to thwart the shooting artistry of John Drew, who scored 23 points in the first Terror game and who ranks second in the league. Brian Bock and Gary Hietpas led AHS with 17 and 14 points respectively.

Drew is averaging 18.5 per conference game. Bock is the Terrors' leading scorer in league play, with a 15.7 average — fifth best in the FRVC. Hietpas ranks ninth and the Terrors' Mike Wheeler 14th.

The Terrors have permitted 63.5 points per conference outing, while the Wildcats have held all FRVC foes to a 52.4 average. Offensively, AHS holds the edge — scoring 61.5 points a game, compared to the Wildcats' 59.5.

Appleton enjoys a 3-2 conference record at home and is 3-4 on its own court in all games.

AHS needs no introduction to the Manitowoc offense, which is pacing the league with a 70.4 average. The Ships pelted the nets for 95 points in the AHS gym in January — a school record and the highest league tally of the season. Dale Lehman led the way with 31 points against an AHS defense which was weakened by the illness-loss of Hietpas and Chuck McKee. Bock scored 16 of the Terrors' 69 points.

pair of hustling guards, Dave Hendricks and Dave Varnado rank second and third in conference scoring. Hendricks has a 20.6 average and Varnado has a 20.6 mark.

In the first meeting between the two teams, Hendricks and Varnado combined for 46 points to lead the Bucs to a 82-73 win. Beloit built up a big first half lead and a Lawrence comeback in the second half fell short.

Coach Boya was pleased with the way the squad looked in losing a 66-63 thriller to league leader Ripon Saturday night. Three of the Vikes starters fouled out early in the second half to hurt chances for an upset win.

Coe was a 70-75 victor over Lawrence on the Kohawk court. Ken Mueller was the big gun for the Bucs in that game with 14 field goals and six free throws for 34 points. Wylan Witte ranks as the top scorer for Coe with an 18.3 average in the league.

Coach Boya is hoping his own pair of guards, Joel Ungrodt and Steve Nault, will be able to continue their hot shooting in the two games. Against Ripon last week, Nault hit nine field goals and Ungrodt also bagged 10 points.

Faster, Higher, Farther

'Impossible' Barriers Broken by Track Stars

BY ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The days of the "impossible" of track and field are gone. Nothing is impossible today.

The jumpers go higher and further and the runners go faster and faster. An athlete or coach of 20 years ago would not have believed such feats were possible. "Back when I was running in the 1920's," said Pinky Sober, former chairman of the Olympic track and field committee, recently, "we never thought of anything like the four-minute mile because we realized it was impossible. So why, we reasoned, shoot for the impossible?"

The figuring is outdated as the horse and buggy. Now, practically no limits are recognized. Everyone thinks he can be the highest, farthest or fastest.

There are, of course, limits. No human, for example, ever will run the mile in say, one minute. No one ever will high jump, say, 20 feet.

Possible Record

Less than 10 years ago, in 1954, Brutus Hamilton of Southern California issued a list of possible greatest records. He didn't pick the mile, but he selected 3:41.8 for the 1,500 meters, the metric mile.

There is about 17 seconds difference between the two, so the mile would be projected to 3:58.8. Peter Snell already has pushed it down to 3:54.4, and no miler worth his salt would admit he couldn't go under 3:58.8.

Hamilton saw the high jump as a breakthrough 7 feet, 1 inch. Russia's Valery Brumel already has cleared 7-5 1/2. In the pole vault, Hamilton took a flyer and saw 16 feet as the top. Eight vaulters already have gone over 16 feet, and less than two weeks ago, Pantti Nikula of Finland topped them all, clearing 16-8 1/2.

Here then, are a set of predictions of how high, far and fast the athletes will go in the foreseeable future:

High jump: 7-9 1/2
Mile: 3:33

Current Record

Pole vault: 17-10 (the fiberglass offers unlimited opportunities).

Shotput: 71 feet (Dallas Long of United States holds the current record of 65-10 1/2).

Javelin: 310 feet (Carlo Lioy of Italy holds current record, 284-7).

Discus: 225 feet (Al Ureter of United States holds current world record of 204-10 1/2).

Hammer throw: 242 feet (Hal Connolly of United States holds current record of 231-10).

Broad jump: 27-10 (Igor Ter-Ovanesyan of Russia is close to the ultimate at 27-3).

100 meters: 9.8 (Armand Hary of Germany and Harry Jerome of Canada share record of 10.0).

200 meters: 19.4 (In shorter distances like the 100 and 200, improvement comes very slowly. The 200 record is 20.0 by Dave Sims of United States).

400 meters: 44.3 (Otis Davis of United States and Carl Havemann of Germany share current record of 44.9).

FVL to Meet Winnebago '5'

er in Gordon Vetter. Vetter scored 10 points for Winnebago in that November game.

Bob Becker, at a forward, John Bechler, at center, and Ron Wilhelms, at a guard are the other certain starters for Winnebago. The remaining guard positions in question right now with sophomores working their way in.

Coach Gerry Kanies may have to make one change in his starting lineup as Verlyn Dobbertin came up with a limp after a fall in Monday's practice. Should "Dobbie" not start, Kanies would go with Bob Krueger and Wayne Koenig in the backcourt and Don Arps, John Koschmann, and Barry Wierschke up front.

WLA is also missing a regular in Bob Wilcox. Wilcox suffered a leg fracture earlier this season in a skiing accident.

The Winnebago game will conclude the Foxes' conference slate. They will close the home season next Tuesday against Freedom before going to Minnesota for a pair of games prior to the Lutheran Tourney here March 1st and 2nd.

WAPL Fund for Youth Center Given to YMCA

Honor 75 Scouts, 1 Adult At Catholic Investiture

Trustees of the WAPL fund for a youth center have voted to give the $1,100 fund to the YMCA building fund drive.

The money was raised about five years ago toward a youth center. The trust fund originally was set up with the provision that if the money was not used for a youth center, the corporation could be dissolved by resolution of the board and the money given, by vote of the trustees, to a project for the betterment of youth.

The money was donated by Appleton residents when Boh Bandy, former disc jockey at WAPL, donated a flag pole and stayed there until $1,000 was raised.

Seventy-five scouts and one adult from 13 Fox Cities parishes were honored Sunday at the first from St. Therese parishes in Appleton. The Rev. Robert Vandenberg, assistant pastor at St. Therese and Valley Area scout chaplain, led the scouting prayers and candlelighting ceremony, and he and the parish chaplains recognized the award winners.

The investiture will be held in the Valley Council each year on Scout Sunday in February. Every fourth year, starting in 1964, the four scout councils in the diocese will join in a diocesan investiture in Green Bay with the bishop presiding.

Cubs and scouts of Sacred Heart parish also were honored at a breakfast and dinner Sunday. Some 250 scouts and their fathers attended a breakfast sponsored by the Holy Name Society at which John R. Whitney, president of the Valley Council, was the guest speaker. Sunday evening 375 cub scouts and their families attended the Cub Scout blue and gold dinner. Ralph Schutz, Appleton, a Cub Scout training leader, was the guest speaker, and the Sacred Heart band presented a program.

Where Is Iraq Going Now?

The latest revolution in the Middle East, this time once again in Iraq, seems to have been shrugged off by most Americans. It is in contrast to our concern a few years ago when Kassem came to power and we worried about the entire Arab world being lost to Communism. Our lack of worry this time may be a sign of some sort of maturity in foreign affairs or, more likely, just a degree of ennui.

Despite the dire warnings when Kassem's backers hung his opponents from lamp-posts, Iraq did not go Communist. Certainly it tended to be more left-wing—one of the things the new regime has complained about—but Kassem made it clear he wanted to run his country without being a stooge of anyone. The United States began to improve diplomatic relations with the Kassem regime and the northern tier of nations seemed no closer to collapse to Soviet Russia.

But each time a revolt like this occurs we must reassess our involvement with previous regimes and start trying to build new fences. It is clear from a number of incidents in the Middle East that there is a strong feeling in that area for independence from east, west and each other. Nasser has been unable to win converts outside of Egypt and he lost Syria. Jordan's king, probably the most modern of the lot, must pay lip service to the hate Israel campaign to keep the allegiance of the "voice of the streets." Internally Saudi Arabia has softened its age-old absolutist doctrines but it is taking advice from no one. The people of the Middle East are excitable, emotional and given to violent passions as they are used to violent actions. The leaders, perhaps like leaders everywhere, seek power and are not about to truckle to anyone.

It is probably quite fitting—at least it is quite usual—that Kassem should go down as he rose to power through violence and bloodshed. The new regime reports that it is against both Communism and the West. But despite the ignorance of the mobs, they will not always be placated by anti campaigns if the economic benefits begun even so slowly by Kassem are not continued. Right wing the new government may be, but to keep from the same fate as its predecessors, it will have to meet at least some of the demands of the hungry and the oppressed. That is the story of this century even in the dust of Arabia.

Wages and Productivity

Since the Kennedy Administration enunciated the idea some time ago that wage increases limited to increased productivity of wage earners were not inflationary, the idea of tying wage scales to productivity has become a popular one with some labor unions.

Walter Reuther told top executives of the automobile industry recently that he would be looking for a profit sharing program in 1964 labor negotiations. He said the profit sharing agreement worked out with American Motors in 1961 had added a new dimension to collective bargaining. "Profit sharing is something you had better become emotionally adjusted to," he told auto makers.

The United Rubber Workers international policy committee has adopted contract goals for talks this spring with major rubber companies and among the proposals is a monthly bonus plan geared to productivity.

Here's how the rubber workers envision the plan would work: The percentage of labor costs as related to total production costs would be agreed upon for some past period. If this percentage declined, workers would share in the savings through monthly bonus payments. No mention was made, of course, of what would happen if the percentage increased.

Meanwhile Kaiser Steel Co. is moving to broaden its sharing of cost savings with supervisory employees in addition to the plan already worked out with the United Steelworkers Union for its members. Kaiser Steel recently agreed to give 7,000 steelworkers at its Fontana, Calif., plant 32.5 per cent of savings in material, supply and labor costs required to produce finished steel. The cost savings will be distributed monthly starting March 1.

If the steel company plan works it may be extended to other Kaiser companies.

Most employers have contended for years that increases in wages can only be justified by increased productivity, weighted possibly by inflation.

It appears that unions are now endorsing this idea as long as increased productivity will give them a higher wage. But there will still be the question of what is labor's fair share of savings from increased productivity when companies achieve such savings by huge investments in new equipment. Because certainly the company's stockholders who invest this capital and probably the company's customers too have some claim on such savings.

Censorship—No Guidelines

What might have been a ticklish local situation failed to materialize last week when Mayor Mitchell and city officials found no evidence that pornographic literature is being openly sold in Appleton. Charges to this effect evaporated when the mayor called a conference to judge the evidence.

The whole matter of what is obscene and what is not and even then what should be done about it cannot be determined in any one conference or any one case. The United States Supreme Court has been arguing about the matter for years without unanimous agreement. The trouble is that there are two matters upon which everyone, not even all lawyers or judges, not to mention all ordinary citizens, cannot agree.

The first problem is to determine that which is obscene. The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that the whole publication, not just a paragraph or two, must have a prurient effect according to generally accepted community standards. This is certainly vague. Some people object to any mention of sex and to them bikinis, knee scraper skirts and the twist are obscene. And communities differ. Material which might be considered of prurient interest in an Appleton courtroom might be quickly absolved in New York or Los Angeles. District Attorney Schaefer has indicated that Wisconsin statutes and Appleton's city ordinance are too broad and too liberal but could they be tightened so that the ridiculous situation which happened at Edgerton would not then occur?

Secondly, even when everyone agrees that something is obscene, there is a difference of opinion over what should be done about it. The police power of a state or community is supposed to be to protect citizens. Must it then be proved that an obscene book or picture has a direct cause and effect of harm upon the reader or viewer? We are inclined to believe that the continued perusal of girlie magazines or graphic sexual descriptions is the result of an already ill mind. But there are other citizens who disagree. Proof unfortunately is difficult to determine. And even the use of police power is not something the U.S. Supreme Court has been able to decide unanimously. On the one hand we have the opinion of Justice Black who feels that any restriction whatsoever upon freedom of the press is a violation of the First Amendment, and on the other the point of view of former Justice Frankfurter who would give a considerable amount of leeway to communities in regard to their exercise of police power.

As the disagreements over the years have indicated, this is no simple problem to be solved overnight. The courts are obviously the place for it to be determined locally. But here, too, each case must be decided on its own merits, not on some broad, vague generalization.

Wisconsin Soldiers Resourceful

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. 12, 1963.

Maj. Harry Eastman, so well known to the people of Wisconsin, is one of the most daring men in the service. He is a perfect horseman, splendid shot and a proficient swordsman. The men all speak in the highest terms of him.

As an instance of what the boys of the Wisconsin 2nd can do, the following account on the trip from Helena will interest your readers.

The cavalry force at Helena, under command of Col. Clayton, was ordered to leave on Sunday the 11th inst. and cross the country to St. Charles on the White River. Col. Clayton and most of the force left early on Sunday morning.

The 2nd Wisconsin, under command of Maj. Eastman, left at 8 a.m. and overtook the main body at Big Creek, 18 miles out. The advance force had been occupying a crossing the creek about 20 miles, and lost two-thirds of them yet across. Big Creek is a sandy, deep stream, about 300 feet wide with high banks, abrupt and crumbling. The bridge had been destroyed by the rebels to impede the march of our forces. On coming up the next morning, Maj. Eastman looked the thing over and concluded there was a better way of crossing the stream.

He called to Capt. Sherman of Eau Claire, Capt. Wood of Grant County and others of that sort of good fellows, whose heads were intended for use as well as ornament, and in two hours and 40 minutes had a bridge completed. In two hours more the balance of the 2nd Wisconsin was over the stream without a loss of a man or a single item of their multitudinous equipments or without even scratching the shins on the legs of their horses.

The bridge was built from the timbers and boards from a barn and cotton gin a few rods from the bank. The only tools they used were two old axes and a dull iron augur found on the premises.

25 YEARS AGO

Gale Bock, 12, son of Mr. and

Mrs. Harry Bock, Dale, was offered a contract with the National Talent Pictures Corp. of Hollywood to appear in the movie, "Juvenile Follies of 1933." The eighth grade student at the Dale State Graded School was a tap dancer and was planning to go to Hollywood in the summer when the production was scheduled to get underway.

Plans were being made to organize the Ushers Club of the First Congregational Church, Appleton. The committee in charge included W. E. Buchanan, E. H. Jennings, G. E. McCowen, B. S. Norling and T. B. Wadsworth.

Appleton Parking Regulations Driving Away Shoppers, Claim

Editor, Post-Crescent:

According to the stories that are printed in the Post-Crescent one gets the impression that the City Fathers of Appleton are wholly concerned with how their city looks and how to get more people to shop there.

This is a very commendable attitude to have; but I think that the business people of that fair city better wake up and take a closer look at what is happening in their city and why it is happening.

I have heard many people talk about business dropping off, but did they ever take a close look at why?

The esteemed City Fathers are always talking about doing something to draw more business into the city. Truthfully, I think they are more interested in how much money they can get out of the parking meters and out of the fines than they are in helping the businesses in their city, the same ones who pay the tax bill to pay their salaries.

I wonder if the City Fathers ever do any shopping in the stores themselves? Have they ever tried to see how much area they can cover in the time they allow customers to park and still be able to find the merchandise that they need?

Ask any lady shopper and they will tell you that by the time you get your car parked and get into the store that at least ten minutes will have passed. If you have to go to more than one department you will be lucky to get the clerk to wait on you by the time the meter expires. Then there is the case where you just have to drop something off at the store which would take about 10 minutes; you still have to pay for a whole hour's parking for the privilege of doing business in this so-called fair city.

Years ago you sometimes had to drive around the block two or three times to find a parking stall, at least you could shop in peace. That's one thing you don't have to do today, the new parking system has driven out enough people to give you parking space.

Maybe you think that I'm just bitter. Well I am fed up on the whole system and I have plenty of company.

What will a person have to do if you don't have any small change, and you wish to get some to put in the meter? About the only thing you can do is go to the shopping center or take a chance on paying a dollar fine. The Meter Maids sure as heck wouldn't ever leave you get away without giving you a ticket, not to get change. They figure you might get a minute's free parking. This might cause the city to go broke. They couldn't lose their jobs. They would sooner drive a potential new customer out of town.

The businessmen better take a good sharp look around their streets, and start to analyze the reasons for loss of business.

They had better either educate their meter maids to use the brains that God gave them and practice the golden rule or else get rid of them.

I have shopped in Appleton for a good many years and have spent quite a bit of money there. But when it gets to the point that as soon as you drive a car into a parking stall, and before you get a chance to find the change in your purse and get out of the car, a meter maid is in front of your car making out a ticket, it is getting to be the height of stupidity.

After this incident I am going to shop elsewhere whenever I can.

One thing I will say it is really nice to get a parking stall, but who wants one when you are treated in this manner.

If the condition which now exists wasn't so tragic to the businesses it would actually be comical.

It's getting to be like the old Keystone cops movies where the driver and the cops race to see who gets there first, or where the cop hides behind the ash can to see if he can catch an unsuspecting motorist.

of reading or looking at so-called pornography. It is the end result of people being unhappy and totally uninformed, even to the point of complete ignorance, on the subject of sex. The victims are the children coming from these broken homes.

Persistence in a hypocritical attitude towards sex can mean only that our children will learn the facts of life in the gutter.

In the last two decades, the individual has had his constitutional rights restricted by federal, county, state, and city laws. We as citizens must exert every effort to preserve what freedoms we have been guaranteed by our constitution. This also includes preventing someone from telling us what we may and what we may not read.

Mr. Danford Bulbol put it very intelligently when he said that there should be more interest shown in bringing up our children and in home life. Also put very wisely is Mr. Bulbol's reference to panels or individuals setting themselves up as tin gods. This writer agrees with Mr. Bulbol that this is an infringement on our constitutional rights.

Reynolds Is Somewhat Naive in View of Local Governments in State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Gov. Reynolds has repeatedly asserted, almost as if to indicate that he is surprised at the discovery, that the local governments of Wisconsin spend a good deal of the tax money raised by laws enacted by the state.

He labored Wyngaard the point during his campaign, he mentioned it in most of his early news conferences after his inauguration, and when he got up before the legislature last week to present his budget program he discussed it again in a kind of puzzled prefatory paragraph.

"Wisconsin's state and local governmental financial relationship is a strange and unique marriage," he began. "It is strange because the state government collects a huge amount of the tax revenue which it does not spend, and thereby reaps the wrath of the taxpayer, while the local governments receive the money and dispose of it." Was there an implication that the local governments thereupon exploit the gratitude of the taxpayer?

The governor's fascination with this point may suggest that he has come up so swiftly in politics that he has not learned the fundamentals of Wisconsin government well. This is one of the elementary facts of political life here and there is nothing about it today that was not an established fact 10 or 20 or even 30 years ago. It is the way the people of Wisconsin built their state local institutional arrangements, and nobody has seriously proposed to disturb it.

NEVERTHELESS Yet it is probably useful to discuss these arrangements, unusual as they may be in the local government establishments of the country as a whole — if the whole story is told.

The story is not that local governments are ravenously gobbling up money that the state government is generously and courageously providing for them, but that the local governments for the most part are relying upon Madison for revenues that they cannot realize through their own limited taxing powers, to pay for services which for the most part are forced upon them by the power of the state.

Basically Wisconsin had had a strong tradition of home rule. Over the generations the people of Wisconsin have preferred to run their basic public services from city hall and courthouse, rather than from distant capitol offices in Madison.

But that traditional reason has long since given way to more potent causes, in fixing the origins of the local-state fiscal partnership that the governor finds so curious.

There is the fact that local governments, for all practical purposes, are anchored to the property tax which is rapidly reaching the limit of its productivity, and has probably passed the reasonable point in many localities. In other states there are optional alternatives, such as the sales tax or the income tax, or payroll taxes, or whatever. In Wisconsin localities are strictly prohibited by law, state law, from raising such potential revenues at their own initiative.

THE WHIP Yet even more important is the long-standing habit of the state of telling localities what to do, how much to spend, for what purpose.

Virtually all of the local public services which spend the money Reynolds mentions so often are either subject to mandates of state law, or under the supervision and control of state agencies, which from their viewpoint amounts to the same thing. Even as the governor was speaking the other day, a state agency was grinding out a routinely mimeographed order "directing" the village of Stockbridge in Calumet County to build a new sewer system which that order said local residents clearly don't want to build. Examples could be multiplied a hundred fold. Lately even the hours of labor, salaries and working conditions in local government service have come under state jurisdiction.

The "home rule" idea remains a rallying cry for local politicians, but it does not survive in practical terms. The localities are branches of the state, administrative outposts, or creatures, as the lawyers sometimes put it. The lobbyist for the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, sponsoring or fighting legislation in Madison, has more effect on a local budget than the most brilliant aldermen who could be elected. The governor should not be surprised. This has been going on for a long time.

Bore With Education Is Just More Boring

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: In past generations, it used to be hard to be the child of a clergyman, and have to live up to the neighbors' expectations; to day, the hardest role I suspect, is being the child of a psychiatrist and under the neighbors' continual scrutiny for signs of gross maladjustment.

A woman may be candid enough to tell you her age, but she is still vain enough to be annoyed if you do not pretend to feel surprise at the discrepancy between her years and her appearance.

Speeches should have three well-balanced dimensions: breadth, depth, and length; and it is only when a speech lacks the first two, that it overcompensates in the third.

Parents who think they love their own children, but find other people's children annoying or deficient or blameworthy, don't really love their own, except as possessions or as extensions of their ego; for a person who genuinely loves trees might especially favor a tree growing on his front lawn, but would find all trees interesting and attractive, no matter where they grow.

The dullest people have the greatest faith in education; but the fact remains that when a bore acquires a new subject, it does not liberate his mind or spirit, but simply gives him another area to be boring about.

I have never understood how we can call anything in nature "unnatural"; isn't the so-called "unnatural" simply that part of nature we have not yet apprehended?

Politics is such a dirty business chiefly for the reason given, punctuated and accurately, by Richard Whately more than a century ago, when he observed: "Party spirit enlists a man's virtues in the cause of his vices."

A high degree of poise is that quality which every woman desires in herself, and resents in other women.

When the worm turns, it's still a worm, just going in another direction, isn't it?

Most of our problems arise from reacting when we should meditate, and from meditating when we should react; divested of the instincts that serve other creatures so infallibly, mankind suffers from a perpetual confusion between his reason and his reflexes.

Attorney General Bob Kennedy hikes 59 miles on a Saturday. You can't blame him. If you had seven kids, you'd want to get out of the house once in a while too.

From the tone of Republican Lincoln day orators, you're not sure whether they're proud that Lincoln was the first Republican President... or afraid that Eisenhower may have been the last.

Gov. Rockefeller claims Kennedy hasn't got the country moving again. Depends on the points of view. To any one running as hard as Rocky, the rest of us must look like we're standing still.

Some Republicans are wary of the party's charge that Kennedy is hiding the facts on Cuba. They fear if all the facts were known, the public might start blaming the Republicans for not knowing what to do either.

Licemen Freed Charges

EVENS POINT (AP)—Thief misconduct charges filed against three police officers after an Doe hearing a year ago dismissed Tuesday at the request of Dist. Atty. William

Each of the officers, patrolmen Donald Hintz and Alex Lanku, were suspended for 30 days by the Fire and Police Commission before criminal warrants issued. They remain on duty.

Third officer, Capt. Emmet Sessa, has retired.

On Sessa's request that the charges be dropped was approved by Marathon County Judge Ronald Kehler sitting in Judge County Court.

Warrants against the three officers were issued in March of 1961 but they were never brought to trial. They were accused of using while on duty of using a patrol car to transport stolen property and taking a bushel of full of produce from a grocery store parking lot.

Sausages Once Were Contraband Because They Were So Good; Still Popular Meat

Thursday, Feb. 14, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent A8

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

The many types of sausage, including the variety known today as cold cuts, are familiar meats in most households. Most homemakers also know that sausage origins come from Old World backgrounds as varied as the people who lived in the different countries or even in regions within a foreign land. But few realize that sausages have a great history . . . that they once were banned throughout the early Christian world.

Paradoxically, sausages were not banned because they were bad food, but rather because they were too good, too popular with the people.

Sausage was so popular in early Rome that varieties were used in temple rituals. Sausages were hawked along the streets of Rome and her colonial cities on the Feb. 15 holiday of Luperculus, the goat god, and during the late April public dances and festivals for Floriana, the flower goddess. So reports the American Meat Institute, which has done extensive research in the matter.

One of the sausages of which the people were especially fond was made from fresh pork, white pine nuts, cumin seed, bay leaf and black pepper. The delicacy was so well liked that it became a hated symbol of heathen rites to the early Christian church.

When Constantine was proclaimed emperor, Christian leaders urged him to ban the popular sausage in an effort to curb the Roman disposition for their pagan rites. This Constantine did and sausage became contraband. But its popularity never waned . . . ancient speakeasy kitchens sprang up and did a thriving bootleg trade that prospered through the reigns of several emperors until public protest forced a repeal of the ban.

So when it's time for a festive occasion, be it company snack or family dinner, serve sausage and follow the trend that started way back in history. Some up-to-date ideas for serving sausage meats are in the following recipes, one a Spiced Cherry Sauce that goes well with many meats besides the pork link and pancake combination pictured today.

Baked Smokie Links Spaghetti
8-ounce can tomato sauce
5-ounce can tomato paste
4-ounce can mushrooms, drained

1 teaspoon onion juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon basil
1/2 teaspoon ground oregano
8-ounce pkg. spaghetti, cooked
12 to 16 ounces Smokie pork links
3 ounces Mozzarella cheese, sliced
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Blend tomato sauce, tomato paste, mushrooms and seasonings. Add cooked spaghetti and mix, taking care not to break spaghetti strands. Add pork links. Put in two-quart baking dish. Lay sliced Mozzarella cheese over spaghetti mixture. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake for 30 minutes. Recipe makes about six servings.

Spiced Cherry Sauce
1-pound can tart red cherries
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves

Red food coloring (optional)
Drain juice from canned cherries; combine juice with sugar, cornstarch and seasonings. Cook over medium heat until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Add cherries and food coloring (use coloring if cherry color is not bright enough). Recipe makes two cups of sauce.

Vienna Franks with Cocktail Sauce
8 ounces canned Vienna franks
1 cup pancake mix

Water for batter
Fat for deep frying

1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon horseradish

Combine pancake mix and water until batter is of medium consistency. Impale Vienna franks on toothpicks; dip each one in pancake batter and fry immediately in deep fat at 385 degrees for about three minutes or until franks are golden brown. Don't remove from toothpicks, but place franks into cocktail hors d'oeuvres holder or impale in head of hollowed out cabbage.

The sauce, which may be made

Looking for a Wonderful informal party idea that fits any time of day — brunch, luncheon or late supper? Serve pork links, slowly cooked to a rich brown, and golden pancakes with Spiced Cherry Sauce. Bake the pancakes large, butter them on one side and then sprinkle with lemon juice and powdered sugar. Spread the cakes with the sauce, then roll "jelly roll" fashion and dust outside with powdered sugar. After the hot links and pancake rolls are on the serving platter, spoon the cherry sauce over both.

Delighted Smiles Are bound to greet Baked Smokie Links Spaghetti when this dish is served piping hot from the oven. Italian in style, the dish uses the American variety of sausage, however, made of beef and pork, coarsely ground and mildly seasoned. Grated Parmesan cheese, hot garlic bread, crisp raw vegetables and olives a-plenty make this meal a gustatory delight.

These Zesty, Hot Vienna Franks will hit the spot for late snacking at late, late TV show time or when company is around. The tiny franks are dipped in pancake batter before being deep fried for a few minutes. For a party flair, impale the golden franks on toothpicks in a hollowed out cabbage that's filled with a tangy cocktail sauce.

Now's Time To Stock Up On Potatoes

Plentiful supplies of all-purpose potatoes will be filling produce counters this week, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. If supplies at home aren't plentiful, now's the time to stock up on this versatile vegetable.

Potatoes fit in as bread, dumplings, soups, salads, side dishes, main dishes, even (believe it or not) desserts. Any way you like them, potatoes have a record for superior service.

There's no waste to this vegetable. At least there doesn't need to be. The skins make good eating—all it takes is a stiff scrubbing with a brush and the potatoes are ready to be cooked and eaten, jackets and all.

If you prefer peeled potatoes, the parings should be made as thin as possible. Thick peelings are wasteful and increase the serving cost of potatoes, warns the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Pared potatoes are usually whiter after cooking than those done in their jackets. To make mashed potatoes sparkling white, add a bit of nonfat dry milk.

Onion Bread

Serve this interesting bread on a dull bleak day. Sprinkle 2 packages of active dry yeast over one-third cup of very warm water. Stir until dissolved. Add a 10 one-half ounce can of condensed onion soup, 4 cups biscuit mix and stir until blended. Put into a greased 9-inch square pan, spreading the batter evenly. Sprinkle a tablespoon of sesame seeds and one-third cup grated cheese over the top. Let rise for one-half hour in a warm place. Bake in a preheated oven (400 degrees) for 25 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Your Problems

Girl Tests All Colors; Proves Blondes Are More Popular

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: A woman who wrote to you wanted to know why blondes have a reputation for being sexier than other women. I can tell her why. Because they are sexier. A blonde will attract more attention from men and I have proved it.

I am a beautiful blonde. I decided to make a personal survey. I dyed my hair every color on the chart—from midnight blue-black to silver blonde. I got lots of whistles and propositions as a red-head, but believe me, Ann, when I went blonde my popularity zoomed.

I noticed, too, that the blonde I got the more popular I became. As a blonde I did well, but when I hit the platinum shades—wow!

I married my present husband when I was an ash blonde. Two months later he asked me to go back to my natural shade—plain brown. He said, "Men like to date blondes but they don't want to be married to them." I agreed, and we are getting along fine. No other man ever looks at me now.—The Old Researcher

Dear Researcher: I am happy to have the results of your survey. A woman who has dyed her hair every color on the chart is fortunate that she has any hair left. If you had continued your research, you might also have learned how men feel about bald-headed women.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two weeks ago I married a wonderful fellow. We spent five glorious days in Florida on our honeymoon. We never had any serious spat during our two-year engagement, so I believed this was good evidence we would get along well together after marriage.

Well, maybe I was wrong. We had the biggest fight of our lives on the third day of our honeymoon. The reason: I telephoned my mother three times.

My husband said he had no idea I was such a mama's girl. I'm very close to my parents and see no reason for him to be upset. I just wanted my folks to know I was thinking of them. Is it wrong for a girl to be considerate of her parents after marriage?—R.N.C.

DEAR R.N.C.: It's indeed admirable of a bride to telephone her parents while on her honeymoon, but three calls in three days is two calls too many.

You overdid it, Chicken. He's got a right to wonder about such frequent contact.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a soldier who is stationed near a small town. I met a girl at the USO Center and we had one date. Unfortunately, I brought her home two hours late. Her parents were waiting up and they were boiling mad. I had an argument with her father and swore at him a little. He told me to get out of the house and never to show my face around there again. The girl was grounded for a month.

I see the girl at the USO Center very often and I'm dying to take her out again. She says her folks would never allow it. I'm willing to go to her house and apologize but she says I had better stay away because her Dad is still sore.

Must people pay forever for one little mistake? I'm sorry and I want to square things. Can you help?—P.F.C.

Dear P.F.C.: Sorry, but I can't work up much sympathy for a guy who brings his date home two hours later and then swears at the girl's father. Everything has a price-tag and you'll have to pay for your big mouth. Next time don't let your tongue go on active duty when your brains are on furlough.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
